Death And Destruction Remain As Waters Rise, Fall Rapidly

Floodwaters that struck northeast Nebraska towns during the day Monday flowed south to threaten Lincoln and neighboring cities Monday night.

Lincoln, protected by the new Antelope Creek Dam and its networks of sluices, was expected to get off comparatively easily, but fears were held for Ashland and Beatrice.

Two deaths were known to have resulted from the 14 inches of drenching rain that soaked the state between 10 p.m. Sunday and 11 a.m. Monday.

As the waters poured downstream, they left twisted tracks, washed-out bridges, and mudded-over highways as reminders of where they had struck.

The Salt Creek rose over the bridge on Pioneers Blvd. near first early Tuesday morning. Police said however that the bridge was not washed out, only covered with water.

Bridge Out

But the Calvert St. bridge, between old Epworth Park and Boy Scout Camp Minis Kuya, was washed out by the rising waters.

A troop of scouts camping there was evacuated by Civil Defense workers early Tuesday. The boys were taken to Van Dorn Park at 9th and Van Dorn.

The State Patrol reported water 4 feet deep over U.S. 77 from the junction of 77 with old Neb. 2 out to the Turnpike curve about 6 miles south of Lincoln.

The patrol said the waters were still rising early Tuesday.

Bridge Damaged

In northwest Lincoln, bridges over Oak Creek on 10th and 14th Streets held. The 14th St. bridge, however, was closed about 10 p.m. Monday after it showed slight buckling in the middle. Police said the bridge was also pulling away from its foundations on either side.

No damage was reported to the 4 bridges that cross Oak Creek within Lincoln Air Force Base. Col. Clifford J. Moore, base commander, said early in the evening that no trouble was expected. The bridges were kept free of debris, said Moore.

About 200 Ashland residents were battling against time early Tuesday to sandbag a Salt Creek dike that threatened to break at any moment. Creek level was nearing 15 feet and still rising.

Creeks Back Up

Fireman George Grauerholz told The Star that both Salt Creek and Wahoo Creek, which come together north of town, were backed up and inundating some lowlands around town.

There was no danger, however, that Ashland itself would be flooded if the Salt Creek dike gave way. If it did, more farm land would be submerged.

At Camp Ashland, water was just starting to come into the southwest part of the National Guard training camp, said Capt. John Maxwell.

The water was pouring in from Wahoo and Salt Creeks, the camp commander said, but was not yet enough early Tuesday to endanger Lincoln municipal water pumps.

Flooding Likely

The captain added that some of the camp's ground "are going to be flooded," although the airfield was not under water. "But," he acknowledged, "it could very well be."

In a river bulletin about midnight Monday, the Weather Bureau predicted that Salt Creek would crest almost 15 feet about 6 a.m. Tuesday. The flood stage there is 11 feet.

Col. Don Penterman of the Nebraska National Guard said, "I am optimistic except for two areas—Ashland and Beatrice." He said he expected creeks there to crest over the banks between 4 and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

'Too High'

"The fact that the Platte is about 4 feet below its banks may help the situation in Ashland," said Penterman. "But the waters are still too high." With Oak, Salt, and Stevens creeks all flood stage, he said, there would certainly be some back-up at Ashland.

Lincoln, Penterman said, was probably saved heavy flood damage by the new Antelope Creek Dam. "That's almost full now. Before it was practically dry."

However, he said, it was possible that Salt Creek and Oak Creek would rise over their banks and cause some lowland flooding in Lincoln. Penterman said National Guardsmen sandbagged culverts in the area where the two creeks approach in northwest Lincoln.

He said water was funneling slowly down the Big Blue to Crete. "There is some low land flooding there now, but I expect it to stay at that stage for a while."

Crest Predicted

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Topeka, Kan., predicted that the Blue would crest at 28 feet about midnight Tuesday in Crete. Flood stage is 16 feet.

Water was also rising over the banks of the Blue at Seward late Monday. The Seward County sheriff's office said water was crossing Hwy. 31 and that families in the lowlands south part of Seward had been evacuated.

Bridges Out

Oak Creek had knocked out bridges on east-west county roads south of Raymond. The Safety Patrol investigated a report that 4 persons were stranded atop a car along one of the roads, but found that

Dwight Woman, Girl Swept To Death

A woman and girl were swept off the road by floodwaters and apparently drowned Monday morning when the Ray Divis family was trapped by rising waters while sightseeing south of Vaparaiso.

Missing and believed dead are Mrs. Nora Divis, 41, and Jane Kolar, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kolar of Dwight.

A girl's sweater was found late Monday by searchers, the Saunders County sheriff's office said.

The Divis family and Miss Kolar, who had stayed overnight at the Divis home 1½ miles southeast of Dwight, were viewing the flood from Neb. 79 one mile south of Valparaiso when the automobile stalled in the high water.

Joined Hands

The Divis family and the Kolar girl joined hands and tried to reach higher ground by wading through the floodwaters. Mrs. Divis and the girl were at the rear of the line and were swept into a roadside ditch by the current, according to Lancaster Deputy Sheriff Vincent McNeil, who interviewed Divis following the Monday morning tragedy.

Divis and his two children, Jeryl, 9, and Janel, 7, were rescued from the water by a trucker who saw them struggling in the water by their stalled car.

Divis and his two children, Jeryl, 9, and Janel, 7, reached higher ground safely.

The apparent drownings occurred in Saunders County on a branch of the North Oak Creek near the Indian Creek schoolhouse.

McNeil said the Saunders County sheriff's office and emergency units in the area were carrying on the search for the missing pair.

Saunders County Sheriff Charles Sayers and his deputy recovered the Divis auto late Monday and continued to search for the bodies of Mrs. Divis and the young Kolar girl.

$362 Million Proposed Budget Hikes General Fund $8 Million

. . . $3.3 Million NU Hike Is $5.6 Million Below Request

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Budget Committee sent to the Legislature late Monday its recommendation that $362,389,281 be appropriated from all funds to operate state government for the 1963-65 biennium, including $89,002,608 from the property tax-supported general fund.

The $362.3 million total represents an increase of $19.7 million over the total budget for the current biennium, and includes a recommended hike of $8 million for general fund expenditures.

The balance of the appropriations would come from: cash funds — $209,145,217, which represents an increase of $10.4 million over current funds; federal funds — $19,736,627, which anticipates a decrease of $597,799 in the amount to be allocated Nebraska in the next biennium, and building levies — $14,504,829, which would be a total actual increase of $1.7 million.

'Reasonable Growth'

Budget Chairman Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings described the appropriations bill as one which reflects a "realistic budget recognizing needs and reasonable growth."

The committee's $89 million general fund recommendation represents a cut of $3.4 million under the amount recommended by Gov. Frank Morrison, and a decrease of $15.2 million under the amount requested by all agencies of state government.

Following are highlights of the committee's recommendations:

University Of Nebraska

The University of Nebraska would receive a general fund appropriation of $31,478,841, an increase of $3,282,841 over current appropriations. The committee's recommendation is $1.6 million under the governor's recommendation, and $5.6 million below the amount NU requested.

Marvel pointed out, however, that the committee has boosted NU's cash (non-tax) fund appropriation $1 million over the amount the institution requested to a total of $7.3 million.

Three measures are responsible for the $1 million boost — a suggested increase in tuitions beginning in the fall of 1964 which would bring an additional $350,000 to NU; a re-figuring of NU's balances at the end of this biennium which would add another $345,000, and a greater increase in projected enrollment figures than was shown by NU to add another $250,000:

Marvel said that both the University of Nebraska and the state's 4 teachers colleges built their budgets on enrollment increases which were not reflected in their estimated revenues.

Legislative Fiscal Analyst John Quigley was directed by the committee to give thorough study to projected enrollment increases with the result that the committee boosted cash fund revenues for all institutions of higher education.

Normal Schools

The 4 normal schools would receive $6,198,742 in general funds under the Budget Committee's recommendation, $1.3 million below the governor and $3 million less than the Normal Board had requested.

Again, however, the cash funds were boosted — $861,768 over current appropriations, so that the Normal School's total budget is $1.9 million less than the board requested.

The Department of Institutions would receive a total of $38.1 million, including $12.5 million in general funds, an increase of $1.2 million over current appropriations. Some $23.5 million was recommended for the department from cash funds, a $2.2 million increase over the current biennium.

Marvel noted the Beatrice Home was the institution in need of greatest assistance, and that the committee's recommendations would allow the employment of 45 additional ward aides, one new physician, an additional dentist and several supporting staff members.

JFK, Adenauer Push Seaborne Atomic Force

Bonn (AP)—President Kennedy called on the western alliance Monday to close ranks in a nuclear-armed team that can seize every advantage offered by the ever-shifting currents of the cold war.

On the second day of his European tour to shore up allied unity in a "strategy for peace," Kennedy won a pledge from West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to join in putting their "best efforts to bringing into being an allied seaborne nuclear force.

The Kremlin announced, meanwhile, that Premier Khrushchev will visit East Germany Sunday on the heels of Kennedy's tour of West Germany and Berlin. Western quarters in Moscow concurred in the Bonn view that Khrushchev will try to bolster East German morale sagging under the effects of Kennedy's German visit.

Position Of Strength

Kennedy and Adenauer also agreed in their private conference to seek to reduce tension through international understanding, but they made plain they felt the west can move ahead in the cold war from a position of strength.

In this line, both leaders pledged themselves to try to convince reluctant members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) that an allied seaborne nuclear force is vital to western defense.

France is chief among the major allies reluctant to join a nuclear team, and France's President de Gaulle came in for some chiding from Kennedy at a news conference earlier in the day.

With obvious reference to De Gaulle, Kennedy said those who do not regard NATO as essential to their security "are ignoring history and are over-optimistic of the future."

Kennedy said, however, that changes in the world in the 18 years since World War II indicate that no one should despair. He held out hope that East and West Germany would once again be unified, but conceded there was no immediate solution to the division of Germany.

Calls For Test Ban

Kennedy also called for the nuclear powers to reach a test ban agreement before a spread of nuclear arms leads to disaster.

Speaking of the forthcoming test ban talks in Moscow, Kennedy told newsmen:

"I believe it essential that we get a test ban this year, or otherwise I think it will greatly increase the prospect that there will be additional nuclear powers through the world in 1964 . . . I would regard that as a disaster."

Expense Account Rules Loosened

Deduction Regulations Liberalized

Washington (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Monday took some of the sting out of its expense account regulations. It decided to let taxpayers take bigger deductions for using such facilities as country clubs, hunting lodges and yachts.

The service also announced other rules intended to clarify or expand the taxpayers' right to deduct travel and entertainment costs incurred in the interest of furthering business.

The liberalizations were announced in the second group of expense account regulations released by the service. The first group announced earlier in the year set off a wave of protests in the business community and Congress.

Critics said the earlier rules were too harsh. A drive was started in Congress to relax them through legislative action.

Criticism Expected

It's likely that even the present rules will be the target for some critical blasts from those who charge that the service's regulations are too complicated for the average businessman.

The new expense account requirements are for the current tax year. However, the revenue service indicated they would not be strictly enforced until July 31 to give taxpayers a chance to get used to them.

The regulations generally follow a liberal attitude in determining what is deductible. They permit nightclubbing as a legal entertainment expense under some circumstances and allow the taxpayer to take his wife along and charge off the cost.

These regulations, first issued in tentative form March 30, were considered rather liberal at that time. The permanent rules announced Monday gave taxpayers even greater concessions.

For instance, under the tentative draft, the service had ruled that such facilities as yachts, and hunting and fishing lodges, could not provide an atmosphere conducive to a discussion of business.

Backtrack Some

It backtracked on this Monday, and said that a taxpayer could claim a deduction for a business meal in such surroundings.

The final regulations also liberalized the requirements for calculating deductible country club expenses.

They also changed the language to make it a little easier for taxpayers to prove that their main purpose in wining and dining in a given situation was the prospect of getting some business.

Originally, the taxpayer had to prove the expenditure was designed to increase his income "immediately or at a definite or readily determinable future date."

An IRS spokesman said the time requirement, plus the wording of the rule would have made it difficult for a businessman to substantiate all such expense account spending.

The final draft stated that the expenditure is deductible if the taxpayer can prove that he had "more than a general expectation" of increasing his business "at some indefinite future time."

Less Than A Clean Sweep

Although officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had asked all Negroes to stay off their jobs in Philadelphia and join in a memorial march around Philadelphia Monday, William Biddle, 63, a worker for the city's department of public property, refused to join in the demonstration. He is shown here at work as marchers are shown in the background beginning to circle City Hall.

First Bathyscaphe Dive Finds Nothing

Aboard USS Fort Snelling, at sea (AP) — The deep diving bathyscaphe Trieste rose Monday from a 5-hour trip to the bottom of the sea, and its crew reported finding nothing of any significance in its search for the lost nuclear submarine Thresher.

The bathyscaphe was underwater 5 hours and 20 minutes.

After it surfaced Capt. Frank A. Andrews, commander of the search force, quoted the Trieste commander, Lt. Cmdr. Donald Keach as reporting "a satisfactory dive but nothing of significance observed."

Andrews said the diving site Monday was a little to the east of the spot 8,400 feet down where the wreckage of the lost submarine is believed resting.

He said Tuesday's search dive will be an area to the westward of Monday's.

Trieste spent some 4 hours on the bottom. It requires about an hour for the descent and another hour to surface, from that depth.

The deep dive was the first for the Trieste in a working assignment. Previously she had made experimental descents in the Pacific.

Trieste is the only craft the Navy has with capability of descending to the 8,400-foot depth where Thresher went down April 10 with 129 men aboard during a test dive.

The bathyscaphe will make daily dives for an indefinite period in a spot where search ships have found what the Navy describes as a heavy concentration of debris.

A thick, steel, 6-foot spherical gondola attached to Trieste's bottom carries the crew.

The gondola is equipped with clear plastic windows 5 and a half inches thick through which still and movie cameras can be aimed.

—Lull In Demonstrations—

Negro Jailings Protest Silent

Savannah, Ga. (UPI)—About 500 Negroes converged on police headquarters here Monday night in a silent protest against the jailing earlier Monday of more than 50 anti-segregation demonstrators.

About 300 of the Negroes marched silently 3 miles from a mass meeting of the "Crusade for Voters" at the Flamingo Club, a Negro meeting hall, and the remaining number arrived in 40 automobiles.

They assembled at police headquarters on Gwinnet Street about 6 blocks from the downtown area and heard one of their leaders, Josea Williams, exhort them to continue non-violent protests against the city's segregation customs.

About 20 policemen were on hand, but the march was orderly.

The earlier demonstrators were arrested while picketing a segregated hotel where Gov. Carl Sanders was speaking.

The demonstrators abruptly marched away from the hotel after they were charged with demonstrating on private property. Police intercepted them a few blocks away and slapped an additional charge of resisting arrest on them.

The hotel demonstration broke out while Sanders, apparently unaware of the Negroes outside, promised the Georgia Municipal Association that the state would send police help to any city that requested it.

Lull Elsewhere

There was a lull in demonstrations elsewhere in the south.

Negro leaders indicated the moratorium in demonstrations which have sent thousands to jail and erupted in violence in some cities would be short lived unless negotiations toward desegregation are fruitful.

Negroes in Philadelphia observed a 4-hour work stoppage with little effect on the city and a campaign of peaceful demonstrations protesting segregation was announced in Los Angeles.

About 50 young Negroes marched through a slight drizzle with anti-segregation signs and, with the permission of Mayor Malcolm Maclean, gathered in the lobby of the Savannah City Hall for less than 15 minutes of prayers and speeches.

Meetings Set

Savannah city business and labor officials are scheduled to meet Tuesday with Negro leaders to discuss desegregation in the historic Georgia port city.

"We just came by City Hall to pay our respects before Tuesday's meetings," said Ben Clark, leader of the teen-age demonstrators.

Gov. Carl Sanders, in his address to the Georgia Municipal Association meeting, said the state would furnish "full support and complete cooperation" to any city in the state that asked for police help.

It was an obvious reference to the demonstrations here, one of which erupted last week in a wild bottle and rock throwing melee.

Sanders sent 52 state troopers into Savannah and they remained on duty despite the calm that settled over the city.

Marchers In L.A. Demand End To Race Segregation

Los Angeles (UPI)—Almost a thousand singing demonstrators marched through downtown Monday to demand an immediate end to de facto segregation and equal opportunities for both Negro students and teachers.

The 700-750 Negroes were joined by another 200 caucasians in a so-called "Los Angeles" type demonstration for total integration.

The marchers stopped for red lights and at no time did they enter the street to parade.

An hour after gathering at the African Methodist Church, the marchers reached the auditorium in Civic Center where the city Board of Education was meeting. A spokesman for the Negro community leaders said the board agreed Monday afternoon to meet with representatives of the demonstrators on issues in dispute.

Death For Slayer To Be Asked

Jackson, Miss. (UPI)—Dist. Atty. William L. Waller said Monday he would seek the death penalty for the accused slayer of civil rights leader Medgar Evers.

Waller said he would seek a murder indictment against Byron de la Beckwith, 42, of Greenwood, Miss., when the Hinds County Grand Jury convenes next Monday and will "ask for the death penalty when and if he is indicted and tried."

Beckwith is scheduled to appear before Municipal Judge James Spencer Tuesday on the murder charge.

Meanwhile, federal authorities here and in Washington conferred on the status of a federal charge against Beckwith. He is accused of intimidation under the 1957 Civil Rights Act.

NUNS APPLAUD FOR THEIR POPE

Nuns among a throng in St. Peter's Square clap as Pope Paul VI appears at a second-floor window of the Apostolic Palace in Vatican City to give his blessing to the crowd.

Pope Pledges Work For Peace

Vatican City (AP) — Pope Paul VI pledged his reign today to a crusade for lasting world peace. He also appeared to extend his hand for better relations between the Vatican and communist countries.

In the Roman Catholic Church's effort for a peace based on "the 4 pillars of truth, justice, love and freedom, the Vatican had no intention of becoming involved in the internal affairs of nations," the new pontiff told an audience of diplomats accredited to the Vatican.

He said the Roman Catholic Church regards itself as a guardian of "the fundamental principles of civilization and humanity."

Pope Paul used the special audience in the Consistorial Hall to stress to nations everywhere his determination to continue the international policies undertaken by his predecessor, Pope John XXIII.

Iron Curtain Appeal

There was no direct reference to communism, but the Pope's address could be interpreted as a carefully phrased appeal to countries behind the iron curtain to improve their relations with the Holy See.

He said the church respects "the dignity and mission of each nation in the world, both those distinguished by a long historic and cultural past and those who have just risen in our days to independence and a place in international institutions."

The Pope added that he wished to see "a more cordial and beneficient collaboration" develop in the relations between the Holy See and temporal countries.

Senate Approves Continuing Corporate And Excise Taxes

Washington (AP) — The Senate sent to the White House Monday the bill preserving $4.2 billion of annual federal revenue by extending present corporation income and major excise tax rates.

It was the 10th annual extension; most of the rates were enacted to help finance increased defense spending at a time of the Korean War.

The bill must be signed into law this week to prevent an automatic drop in the rates July 1.

The White House said the bill would be flown to Kennedy in Europe on a courier plane for his signature.

Before passing the bill, the Senate defeated 51-22 an amendment of Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N. H., to eliminate the 5% tax on air travel which brings the treasury $90 million a year.

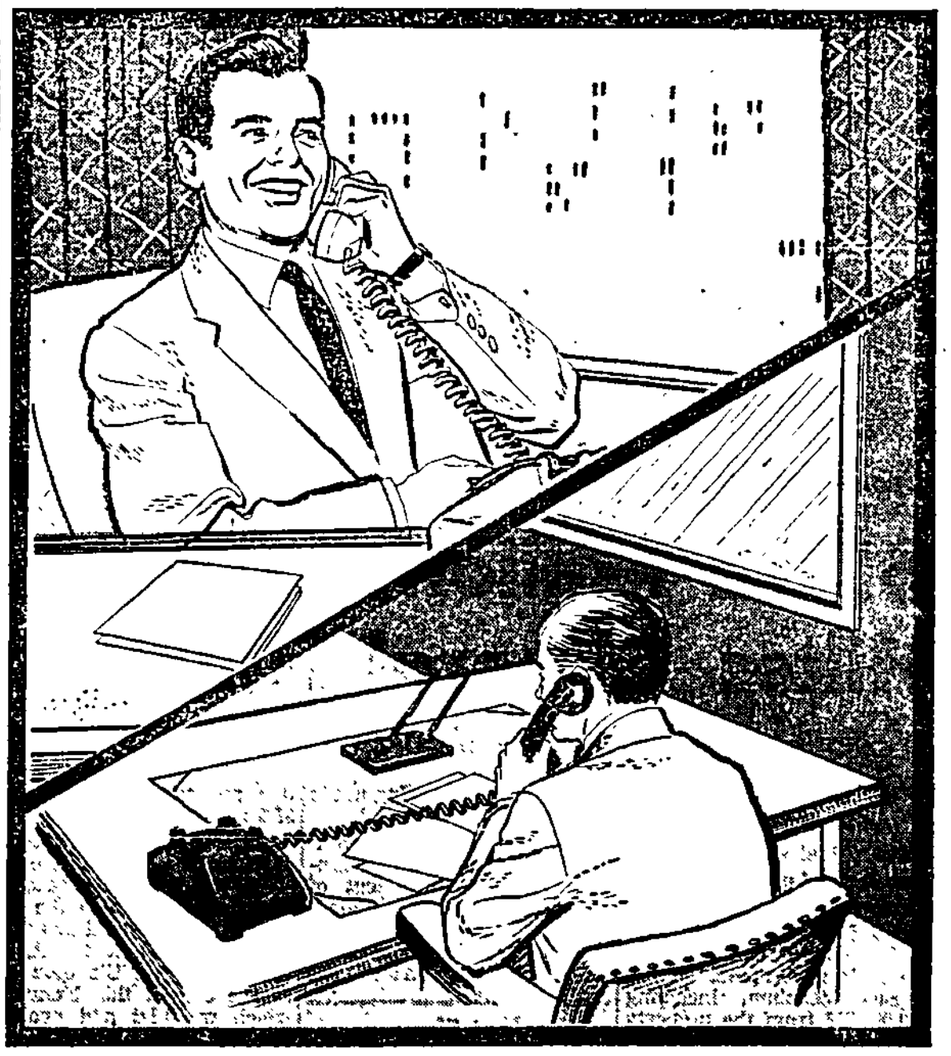

There were some protests against continuance of the 10% general telephone levy, and against some excises not affected by the legislation such as those on cosmetics and jewelry. But no other amendments were offered.

The bill will continue to June 30, 1964, the 52% corporation tax and present excise rates on whisky, beer, wines, cigarettes, autos, auto parts and accessories, air travel and telephone service.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois poked fun at those who called this a temporary extension.

"This is a kind of fakery that grows up in government," he said. "This is the 10th extension. How many extensions can we have and have this still considered temporary?"

But Dirksen added "It has got to be done; we have to pay our bills."

Raymond Flood Waters Recede

. . . PATH OF DESTRUCTION

By DICK STUCKEY
Star Staff Writer

Raymond — Flood waters here late Monday receded almost as swiftly as they rose during the afternoon, leaving a path of destruction in this area.

Several Raymond families were evacuated from their homes as rising waters hit this section after moving south from Valparaiso and Agnew.

Three members of the Ed Beranek family, living in the southwest part of Raymond, were rescued by boat when flood waters threatened their home. The Eugene Maxson family was also evacuated.

Family Stranded

Monday morning the Keith Ivey family, living one mile south of Raymond in a new home, left their house as a safety precaution. Later they returned to their home to check on the progress of the flood waters and became stranded in waist-high water while trying to flee.

The family safely sat out the flood at their home surrounded by water at the height of the flooding.

The high water followed the tracks along the west edge of Raymond, covering the park and creeping up to the door of the tavern and beauty salon in the business part of town.

Sealed Off

Flood waters curled over the Raymond road about 3 p.m. Monday, sealing off that community from any west entry via Highway 79.

In less than 15 minutes, foaming inches-high water built up the steep road ditch and toppled over the road, down into the next field south.

Older residents said the depth and strength of the muddy water was the worst since 1908.

Boat Club Called

The Lincoln Boat Club, summoned to the scene by the Lincoln Fire Department, stood by with 6 craft.

Club Commodore Sid Dewey, 5325 Leighton, said members—boat owners and coast guardsmen — were originally to aid in the evacuation of Valparaiso.

A Red Cross unit backtracked south and east ahead of the waters to reach Raymond.

Higher ground to the east enabled Raymond residents to evacuate in that direction towards Lincoln.

Antelope Creek Dam Demonstrates Worth

Lincoln felt the first benefits from the Antelope Creek Dam at 56th and Van Dorn as torrential rains caused flooding elsewhere in the county Monday.

Hal Schroeder, Salt-Wahoo Watershed District general manager, said Monday that the dam "materially held the creek below flood stage downstream from the structure."

Two other Army Corps of Engineers dams at Hickman and Sprague-Martel reduced flooding on Salt Creek.

"If the rain today had occurred 15 years ago, there would have been considerable more damage along Salt Creek south of Lincoln," he said.

"One year from now, there will be 5 dams instead of the present two on Salt Creek and the same rain run-off will be felt even less," he added.

Ultimately 10 Corps dams will be constructed in the watershed.

Schroeder said it was obvious in a field check how much farm terracing and Soil Conservation Service dams have contributed to retaining the water on the land.

Flooding north of Lincoln in the Raymond area on Oak Creek was severe, Schroeder said, and approached the Lincoln Air Force Base

Schroeder said the Corps of Engineers' proposed Branch Oak Dam with 1,300-acre reservoir north of Raymond would prevent the reoccurrence of Monday's flooding.

Unfortunate Dramatization

Corps planning shows the structure is needed on paper, but Monday's unfortunate occurrence "really dramatized" the need, he said.

Schroeder said a flood bottleneck on Dead Man's Run was removed when flood waters took out the Cornhusker Highway bridge over the creek.

Lightning Bolt Blamed For Hallam Blaze

Lincoln Star Special

Hallam — A bolt of lightning about 5:30 a.m. Monday struck Floyd's IGA grocery store here resulting in "near 100% loss to both the stock and the building."

Mrs. Floyd Steinmeyer, wife of the owner, said that although the blaze was discovered shortly after the lightning hit, fire units from Hallam, Cortland and Clatonia were unable to save the structure.

Firefighters brought the flames under control about 8:30 a.m.

The Steinmeyers had remodeled the store building about 4 years ago, erecting a new front on the brick structure which has concrete walls.

Most of the loss was covered by insurance, Mrs. Steinmeyer said.

The fire came during Monday morning's heavy rain.

FLOOD PROBLEMS MOUNTING

though the people were marooned, they were not in danger and did not wish evacuation.

South of Lincoln, United Press International reported a man was stranded in a tree near Adams for some time before being rescued. Adams was reported surrounded by flood waters from the Big Nemaha River.

The Lancaster County sheriff's office also received reports that the driver of a dairy truck escaped to safety when it was washed off U.S. 77, a mile south of the Crete corner.

An Adams rural mail carrier, Garrett Harms, was rescued via boat Monday when he was stranded on top of his mail truck. His truck slid off the road into water one mile east of Adams.

The Big Blue crested almost 25 feet at Ulysses about 2 p.m. Monday. Flood stage there is 15 feet.

In Linwood, a two-story house was washed a block from its foundation by waters that measured 8 feet deep in some parts of the town. A transport truck was reported overturned by water there. Waters were receding there late Monday, the Weather Bureau reported.

Maj. Gen. Lyle Welch, Nebraska adjutant general, established an emergency headquarters at the Wahoo National Guard armory and took personal charge of flood operations. Ten helicopters, four 2½-ton amphibious trucks, and motorboats were used to evacuate about 50 families from the southern portion of Wahoo and from the countryside south of town.

The Wilber rescue squad evacuated two families on the south part of Swanton, where several head of livestock were also reported seen going downstream. The residential north side of Crete was flooded, about 4 feet of water standing in yards.

The flooding in Crete was caused by Walnut Creek backing up. The Big Blue still stood below flood stage there Monday afternoon.

More than a dozen small streams, chiefly emptying into the Big Blue River, went out of their banks. Ten inches of rain were reported unofficially at David City, with the Weather Bureau giving 7.05 as the official figure; Prague reported 8 inches, Firth 7, and many other communities 5 and 6 inches.

Lincoln had 5.38 inches.

Seven rural residents were evacuated at Bee. Camp Fire girls at Milford were evacuated from tents and cabins.

Flood Waters Around Lincoln Close Off 3 Main Highways

Flood waters Monday closed 3 main highways into Lincoln as well as blocking several county roads.

U.S. 77 was blocked both north and south of Lincoln due to high water, as was U.S. 6 to Ashland.

Traffic on No. 14th St. was halted late Monday night when the bridge over Oak Creek was weakened by rising waters.

Heavy Flooding

Heavy flooding was reported at Unadilla, 25 miles southeast on Neb. 2 from overflowing Little Nemaha River banks.

Lincoln police said O St. west on U.S. 6 and east on U.S. 34 was open and not in immediate danger of water coverage.

Routes north on 14th St. through Belmont met heavily mudded and slippery roads. The Superior St. industrial area was reported closed from heavy mud. The Salt Creek Bridge on Superior at about 40th was washed out earlier.

Interstate Dry

Only Interstate 80 east and west stood high and dry from the flooding, muddy onslaught.

Inside Lincoln, Monday morning's near 1½-inch deluge in an hour literally swamped the central part of the city from 27th to 48th and from O to A Sts.

Heavy flooding was also reported on Starr between 33rd and 34th, at 9th and Furnas, and on Cotner Blvd. between Vine and O.

Tragedy Averted

Near tragedy was reportedly averted near 38th and C when 3 youths pulled Sally Cook of 3230 So. 27th from surging street waters after she had been swept more than one-half block.

Chief rescuer was Mickey Tomlinson, 14, of 3805 C.

Power Failures

Several brief power failures were reported in Lincoln, but none lasted very long.

Traffic problems mounted for Lincoln police Monday evening as all Cornhusker Hwy. movement between 27th and 48th was routed south over Holdrege St.

The Cornhusker Hwy. bridge at about 30th and the highway had collapsed shortly after noon Monday. A passing motorist barely escaped a plunge down with the bridge, according to witnesses.

State Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin said a temporary crossing would be constructed over the gap soon.

The bridge, on Dead Man's Run, was to be replaced by construction renewing Cornhusker Hwy. in the area.

Norden Laboratory employes were rerouted from their usual directions home Monday as high water closed the Oak Lake road into Lincoln.

Major Roads Are Closed

John McMeekin Chief maintenance engineer for the state Department of Roads, reported the following highways closed late Monday:

Neb. 4—closed west of Plymouth.

U.S. 6—Closed at the Havelock Overpass in Lincoln, and in Ashland.

Neb. 15—closed south of Dorchester and from Seward to David City.

U.S. 34—covered by water at Seward.

Neb. 63—closed from Ashland north.

Neb. 66—closed from Valparaiso to Dwight.

U.S. 77—closed south of Lincoln.

U.S. 77 and 6 — closed in Lincoln at Dead Man's Run with bridge out; traffic must go south on 27th to Holdrege, east to 48th.

Neb. 79—closed from Valparaiso to Agnew.

Neb. 82—closed south of DeWitt.

Neb. 92 and U.S. 30A — closed from Wahoo to Meade Junction and west of Wahoo.

State 241, Swanton spur — closed with bridge out.

Swan Creek On Retreat At De Witt

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

De Witt—The swirling waters of Swan Creek began receding here Monday night after standing up to yardstick-deep over much of this Saline County community of 504

A torrent which swept across Neb. 82 much of the day had subsided enough to permit limited traffic by early evening.

In town, however, the only vehicles moving were tractors and large trucks

Doubles In Brass

"Probably every block in town has some water," said Town Marshal Dick Kucera. Wearing hip waders, he doubled jobs to maneuver a large fire engine to town trouble spots.

Even after a drop of several inches, the floods still stretched along 6 blocks of the east-west main street and similarly in all directions.

Petersen Manufacturing Co. closed its operations temporarily as employes concentrated on pumping their home basements and protecting furniture.

'Worst Since 1950'

Describing the flood as "the worst since 1950," residents kept one eye to other threats from Turkey Creek and the Big Blue River.

Damage so far has been primarily to basements.

Evacuation of several families was completed at nearby Swanton, according to Saline County John Tesar. A number of creek bridges were out in the area.

Rural School Washed Onto County Road

Valparaiso — The North Star schoolhouse 3 miles north of here was washed onto a county road by the torrential rains that hit Monday.

Harry Parker of Valparaiso, Journal-Star printer, said that water here came up to the north-south main street Monday morning, and had gone down about 3 feet by afternoon. Basements west of main street were mostly full of water, Parker said.

Summary Of Conditions

Large amounts of Gulf moisture were being brought into the Nebraska and western Iowa areas by two pressure centers.

A large, warm, moist high was centered over central Ohio late Monday with a ridge extending southwest to Louisiana, a weak low pressure was centered over central Wyoming and expected to move to eastern North Dakota by Tuesday. The combination of circulations around these two pressure centers — clockwise around the high, counterclockwise around the low — was combining to bring Gulf moisture into the central plains.

The large high to the east is causing the front to the west to move very slowly, hence any rain areas move very slowly, indicating continued moisture across the Nebraska-Iowa area

View From The West

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

From the hearts of millions of West Germans has come a warm welcome for President John F. Kennedy of the United States. Since the end of World War II, the West Germans have been in a painful process of rebuilding their nation and their lives. It has been painful in a personal sense, not physically, because it demanded from them a full and complete rededication of their lives to the pursuit of objectives that were not even too clear.

In the years immediately after the war, things looked pretty dismal for the West Germans. Most of them hardly knew what had happened to them under the madness of Hitler but they knew that their country had been defeated, that the future was not a glorious one and that the terrible spectre of communism divided their homeland and pointed threateningly at them. Hopelessly divided, humiliated, economically depressed, politically unstable—that was the foundation on which the West Germans were expected to build a new nation.

The Task Of Rebuilding

But what a difference the past two decades have made in things. West Germany thrilled to the presence of President Kennedy because he symbolizes to them the spirit of the new meaning to life they have found, the new national pride that is a part of West Germany.

Making the greatest hit with the West Germans was the President's firm commitment to the defense of Europe. An attack upon West Germany, he stated, would be exactly the same as an attack upon the United States. To the people of West Germany, this placed them squarely in the ranks of democracy.

No longer do the West Germans have any feeling of hopelessness; no longer are they a sort of lost people, without purpose and without hope. They have changed the face of their nation and the coming generation can build its future on a strong economy and free political system. Internationally, the once ominous threat of communism is much less pressing than it had been. It still is a threat to West Germany just as it is to all the Western world. It is still very close to West Germans, too, as millions of their countrymen labor behind the Iron Curtain that shuts off communist East Germany. The situation in Berlin has not ceased to be a cause of anxiety but it is far from the threat it once was.

Why this is so is clear from an account of the conditions there contained in the Wall Street Journal. When President Kennedy looks out over the Berlin wall and into the drab face of East Germany, he will not see, other than the drabness, anything to encourage him. But the Journal goes on to detail the fact that communism has been a great failure in East Germany and it shows when the surface is scratched. It shows in the fact that the East German regime has given up its five-year plan, has given up on overcoming the economy of its western neighbor, has cut pay increases to a minimum of 1 per cent per year, has raised production quotas and shows a multitude of other signs of decay.

East Germany was disillusioned and heartless after the war, too. Her people, as were West Germans, were used to a relatively high standard of living. But the standard of living in East Germany has not improved since the war days. The average worker's real income is estimated to be 30 per cent below West Germany.

East Germans have had to come to the painful conclusion that life for them continues to be hard and hopeless. The presence of President Kennedy in Germany is a vivid reminder of all of this to those on both sides of the Berlin wall and as such, further extends the gap that exists between the tyranny of the East and the freedom of the West.

As the Journal notes in its report, no revolt is expected in East Germany as a result of conditions there. The state is still powerful, even though it is a substantial failure in all other ways. But East Germany stands today as an awful example of the complete failure of communism to do what its advocates claim it can and will do. And it stands side by side with the obviously successful operation of democratic processes in the West. It isn't meant to be argued that this, somehow, justifies the President's European trip.

Example Of Failure

The trip will find its judgment in the course of time but aside from that, the trip is cause for us to speculate on the fortunes of communism. They are fortunes that should be encouraging to us, even though they in no way constitute the end of our struggle against the Red ambition to bury us.

Message To Congress

Studies Always Controversial

Fred Herrington, executive director of the Nebraska Tax Research Council, has placed his organization in opposition to a Legislative Council interim study of the administration and enforcement of the property tax. According to Mr. Herrington, we have ample studies at this time and need only to implement them if we want to correct deficiencies that we believe exist.

We are inclined to agree with Mr. Herrington and to include certain other things in the same category. We have saturated a lot of subjects with studies in Nebraska while doing little by way of meeting the problem. The Legislature is looking at possible studies of taxes, highways, education, educational television, public power and other subjects.

Taxes and educational television, we believe, have about been exhausted as subjects fit for further study. Public power and many elements of education are near the same point. It is hoped, therefore, that the Legislature is conservative when it comes to looking into the many problems that are raised with these study proposals.

In other areas, legislative processes, personnel matters, vocational education, etc., studies may well be in order. It is fundamentally in error to condemn all studies on the grounds that past ones have not been followed. This is a natural tendency but the Legislature needs information and guidance on a subject, regardless of whether it follows it.

There are times when a study at least gives us the possibility or grounds for intelligent action. Without such a foundation, we would simply cut our chances of doing an effective job in certain areas of public concern. Our concern should be with the selective manner in which we approach the subject of studies.

Tax Relief For Elderly

In the long-gone days of modest taxation, a home was indeed a refuge and a fortress in behalf of the security of the elderly. It guaranteed shelter against economic adversity and by that much simplified the general problem of subsistence after the earning years were over.

Today the picture is at variance. The investment in a home is high. Taxes are sufficient to constitute a substantial drain. The necessity at times to dispose of the home in order to recapture liquid assets to meet the demands of modern care often results in ultimate hardship.

The House Ways and Means Committee had this in mind when it began exploring modifications in the present law on capital gains when applied to home-owning elderly people.

Currently it is suggesting that most of the profit gained by an elderly owner through the sale of his home be protected from the gains tax. That is to say, if a home were owned more than five years, as proof that the investment were not for the purpose of speculation, an exemption of profit up to $10,000 might be allowed on homes selling for $20,000 or less. Under present law a tax of $2,500 would be applied against such a profit, unless the money derived from the sale were reinvested in another home within six months.

This is a modification which, if wisely devised, could mean a great deal to the elderly without harm to the general economy. In the sense of applying an austere gains tax on the elderly, the wealth involved does not disappear. It is simply redistributed at the expense of the aged seller whose unemployability denies him the privilege of getting it back in another manner. He becomes the fall guy and if his reserves are not great enough otherwise, he becomes a public charge that much quicker.

Pensions A Big Factor

Whatever it is the American people seek with greatest determination, they certainly are dedicated to security. Our economic system has brought our people to the point where they no longer must be content with security during their productive years and charity thereafter.

A report from The First National Bank of Chicago demonstrates the significance of this change in the way of life of Americans. Assets of pension funds, private and public, increased by $7.5 billion or 6 per cent in 1962 to a total of $122 billion. Receipts of corporate pension funds from all sources total $5 billion in 1962 and disbursements hit $1.4 billion.

Thus, the security of the American people in the later years of their lives has become much more than just a social matter. To be sure, it is significant from the social point of view and gives the pensioned American worker a place in society far more influential and independent than is the case in most parts of the world.

Beyond this, the retirement benefits throughout business and industry have become a big economic factor in their own right. These funds have pumped billions into stock and bond investments in American industry and have greatly expanded the purchasing power of a large segment of American people.

Of course, the billions involved are not simply manufactured and constitute a drain on the economy at certain points. But public and private pensions plans, likewise, are in the nature of a capital investment and are going on to create a greater wealth than they represented in the initial state of their being. In this system we see another tribute to a way of life that pays tribute to the individual as the prime mover and the major consideration in the scheme of things political, social and economic.

Adenauer Sensitive About A Successor

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy skirts gingerly around a delicate personal cleavage today when he confers with Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard. He will skirt around an even more delicate political cleavage in Berlin tomorrow.

It's significant that he has to go to a different city, Frankfurt, to confer with the man who soon will take over the government of West Germany. They will not confer in Bonn, capital of Germany.

This adroit shift of scene was arranged because the Grand Old Man of Germany, now 87 years old and about to bow out of public office, is more sensitive than a retiring metropolitan opera star about taking the final bows without being nudged by an understudy. Adenauer has castigated Erhard publicly as a weakling, at first refused to get out at all, finally had to be served an ultimatum that he must step down as chancellor.

☆ ☆ ☆

This should not reflect on Adenauer's great job in picking up the shattered German republic. But the fact that President Kennedy had to make a special trip to Frankfurt to see the next chancellor of Germany highlights a difference more important than merely a clash of personalities. It also highlights growing differences between the old and the new in regard to the No. 1 political problem which concerns the United States, Russia, and most of Europe — unification of Germany.

German political leaders know the two Germanys are not going to be united for a long time to come — if ever — but they are not going to shout about it in campaign speeches.

They have come to live with the two Germanys, and a lot of them privately like the idea of continuing to live that way. And since the symbol of unification was Berlin and the reason Berlin has been kept alive as a red hot issue has been the idea that some day it would be restored as the capital of a united Germany, this new thinking should make it easier to find a solution for the Berlin problem.

☆ ☆ ☆

The exit of Konrad Adenauer should also make it easier. Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin is not nearly as rabid on the question of Berlin as the old chancellor. Brandt last summer gave me the same solution for Berlin suggested by Khrushchev — namely an independent city protected by UN troops and serving as the capital for part of the UN.

So the shifting of President Kennedy's talks from Adenauer in Bonn to Ludwig Erhard in Frankfurt today may be symbolic of subsequent important political changes. This, however, will depend in part on what the President does in Berlin tomorrow.

Wilson's Plans For Remaking England

LONDON — Short of a sudden and dramatic reversal of all present trends, the face of England is bound some time in the coming year to undergo a drastic alteration

The two Harolds — Harold Wilson, leader of the Labor opposition, and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who wears the nonchalance of an Edwardian country gentleman — have certain things in common. They are both extremely shrewd politicians.

But in the contrasts between the two are far more significant, and it is in these contrasts that the future look of a Laborite Britain can be read. Wilson means to remake Britain in a radical new pattern — A Britain that will compete aggressively in science technology, trade and leadership in the peaceful arts while giving up a futile effort as he sees it, to keep a chair in the club of the nuclear giants.

☆ ☆ ☆

The pattern Wilson will follow in remaking Britain, as this reporter has understood it from those in the small circle around him, is likely to be a surprise even to many in his own party. He contemplates a national cabinet that will draw on brains far beyond party ranks.

High on the Wilson agenda is a ministry of planning. While Britain has a planning organization, its powers are limited and marginal. The Ministry Wilson contemplates would have broad authority to expand the economy and break through present restraints.

As part of this effort Wilson, as prime minister, would curtail the present powers of the treasury and the treasury's allies in London's financial community. Fiscal control would be related to planning far more directly than it is today

☆ ☆ ☆

His followers sometimes look ahead in hopeful anticipation to the day when Wilson will be prime minister, the Socialist Mayor Willy Brandt of Berlin chancellor of Germany in 1965, and Kennedy secure in a second term, and then foreign policy can be made to match the realities of the late '60s. Privately Wilson has one major worry about the election to be held probably next June—that the 69-year-old Macmillan will be replaced by Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, who is approximately Wilson's own age, and thereby Labor will be robbed of the younger-generation, time-for-a-change battle cry.

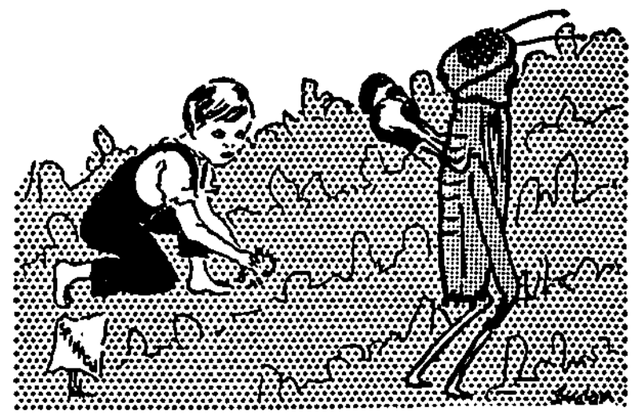

But the foreign policy of a Labor government is likely to take a turn that scarcely coincides with the present mood in America. In a recent visit to Moscow and Warsaw, Wilson indicated his approval of the Rapacki plan for a nuclear free zone in Central Europe. He has given at best a half-hearted nod in the direction of the mixed-man force as the lesser of evils in working out European sharing of nuclear strategy and insuring that in the future Germany will not seek an independent nuclear deterrent.

But for the present, this is part of the carefully guarded mental exercise of Harold Wilson, shared on a speculative and conjectural basis with only a few of his lieutenants.

Patchwork Prairie Country

Picking spinach is one of the tasks that Blue Jeans does not relish but like a gallant trouper, he settled down among the rows until it was all picked. The grasshoppers are beginning to invade the garden and of course the spinach leaves seem to be one of their favorites.

After taking note of the holes in some of the leaves and seeing the hoppers, Blue Jeans remarked: "I bet you will have the biggest grasshoppers in the country. Look what spinach did for Popeye!"

☆ ☆ ☆

Farmers are beginning to eye the fields of wheat and judge the beginning of harvest. Some of the earlier varieties in our area will soon be combined. There always comes the time when it seems there will be another few days before the wheat is completely ripe. Then suddenly the harvest date is put up a couple of days and before we know what has happened, it all seems to be completed. The days before the harvest are somewhat hectic, with the corn and milo to be cultivated and the hay to be cut and stacked.

☆ ☆ ☆

I enjoy reading old history of our county and contrasting it with the news items of today. One of the items I read happened eighty years ago this week. It stated: "A very heavy rain fell. All mill dams on the Little Blue were washed out." Most of those mills were flour mills.

Earlier this spring I read another news item that was reprinted from eighty years ago. A prairie fire for awhile threatened our little town. The grass was dry and for a few anxious moments the town stood in the path of the great fire.

Now when I look toward our town and see all the fields neatly tilled, with farm houses and big barns, it is difficult to imagine prairie grass once waved in their places. When I go to our town, I travel on a graveled road. It has not been so long ago that there was only a path through the grass where wagon wheels turned. Within a very short span of time as far as history is concerned, the land of Nebraska was turned from a vast wilderness of prairie to one of settlement and cultivation. Probably no other region of the world was so thickly populated in so short a time.

A land of utter loneliness became a rich agricultural region. Once the steel plow was brought west to the prairies, it did not take long to conquer the loneliness.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Farmer and Blue Jeans were discussing a particular ball game they had watched on TV. One player had made an outstanding slide into third base where he was safe.

"I wish I could slide into third like that," Blue Jeans commented. After a little thought, he said: "It would really be hard on the stomach to slide that far, wouldn't it?"

"Yes, it would," answered The Farmer, "especially when there were no wheels under you."

After further conversation, it was decided that hitting the ball hard enough and far enough would be better than sliding into third. Blue Jeans, who plays on the ball team again this year, would like nothing better than a home-run. A fancy slide seems so heroic and many a little shaver tries his luck at sliding into base. Next to a home-run, sliding into base satisfies the ego of a player. Perhaps it's because the slide ends in a big cloud of dust.

Rebellion

Bennet, Neb.

From the beginning of time, man has rebelled against authority. "Thou shalt and thou shalt not" has been twisted in its proper meaning to serve man's purpose or it has been completely ignored.

I doubt if St. Francis who was called "the little poor man" could please everyone in his time. We read that he gave everything away that was his except one garment. Now, it's quite likely that some called him indecent for not wearing more clothes and there were perhaps those who thought he should have given all to the poor and joined the nudists.

One hundred years ago Lincoln freed the slaves but today we are just beginning to see that they were not completely freed at all and we have rebellion among men of the South who call themselves Christian. Brotherly love has a different meaning among them, and anybody who steps in and differs with them is called a dictator.

When man becomes selfish and greedy to the detriment of the majority, we need laws to control him. Even when he becomes so efficient that he raises more food than can be sold, he has to be controlled by law for the good of the many.

But regardless of what the law is against, there are always some who will call it dictatorship. Very few traffic law breakers are humble enough to admit they are, since the beginning of tiime. Man can't be convinced against his will.

Rabies shots for all dogs would just be a way to torture the little pets. If a dog gets feed and plenty of water and some shade, it is not very likely to go mad.

I think some of the car and truck drivers need shots, as reckless as they are today. One can hardly step out of his yard for fear of getting run down by a car, truck or tractor. There are many things that need looking after more than dogs. Three accidents in one day, one dead in each accident and four in the hospital? Can dogs compete with such?

Farmer's Position

Crete, Neb.

I'm beginning to see that it takes a lot of writing to get through to some people. A person can write in the simplest language and it doesn't register.

I read where Rep. Ralph Beermann and 14 others would like to come up with another farm program and soil bank. There was speculation on who is to be saved, the operating farmer or someone else.

Well, if some of these people are losing their jobs because there is no farm program, they can commit suicide like the farmer has been doing. He doesn't have money to buy groceries. To be perfectly honest, there isn't much of anything else to do.

Lincoln's Day

Hastings, Neb.

Richard Dill says that Lincoln believed the Negroes should not be slaves and also believed that Negroes should not be voters or jurors. Lincoln knew the Negroes only as slaves. He knew nothing about Negroes as free men and failed to realize that those born in slavery in the U.S.A. were born under the American flag. We take it for granted that anyone born under the American flag can claim American citizenship and are entitled to all benefits and privileges of that citizenship. However, if any attempt is made to deprive any American of the rights that belong to him, then we are on the road to the destruction of the principles on which this nation was founded.

Lincoln knew his Proclamation of Emancipation would be worthless if, without the consent of Congress, he could not recruit enough draftees to meet and defeat the military forces of the Confederacy. Not yet in American history has there been a document that would have been of any value if America had not had the military might to back up that document.

It would be foolish to classify the modern-day American Negroes with the Negro slaves that President Lincoln knew. He could not foresee the day when America would produce Negroes who would be receiving $100,000 a year in the field of sports or when Negroes as contestants in the Olympic games would keep America on the map by winning medals.

The Understanding

Lincoln, Neb.

The controversy over Bible reading and repeating the Lord's Prayer in schools could be settled properly if those in responsible positions would seek counsel from the Supreme Authority, God, the Creator. He assures us that His counsel, not men's, will stand. According to His counsel, the proper place for Bible reading and religious instruction is the home. Merely reading the Bible is not beneficial; we need to study it to be able to understand what we read and then apply its righteous principles to our daily lives.

The same applies to the Lord's Prayer. Repeating it without understanding what we are praying for is of no benefit. Many who repeat this have no idea what the kingdom they pray for is. Although they pray for God's will to be done on earth, they are more concerned about their will being done. While praying for God's name to be hallowed or sanctified, many do not even know His name. Others who know his name are more concerned in making a name for themselves and have kept His name obscure.

If everyone would heed God's counsel and the righteous requirements stated in the Lord's Prayer, world problems would diminish instead of increasing.

First Reaction Favorable To Budget Proposals

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The first waves of reaction late Monday to the Budget Committee's 1963-65 appropriations bill were firmly favorable.

"I am delighted," Sen. George Syas of Omaha exclaimed upon learning that the committee had recommended an appropriation of $125,000 for tourist promotion activities by the State Game, Forestation and Parks Commission.

"Considering the revenue from all funds, I feel that the University of Nebraska has been treated well," Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln said.

"They have done a good job," Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City declared.

Approval Predicted

And from the dean of the Unicameral, Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, came the prediction that this budget bill "will take less time to approve than any appropriations bill we've ever heard."

A number of lawmakers reserved any comment until they have had a full opportunity to study the 71-page bill, an 8-page comparison of past figures and recommendations, and a comprehensive 26-page summary of background information.

Syas, who has often appeared to be critical of Budget Committee procedures, was pleased with the tourist promotion figures:

"At long last, if we give the Game Commission that amount, we will have given it a fair opportunity to sell tourism. The $125,000 is sufficient money to do the job.

'Talk Change Later'

"Then, if it is not done, it will be time to talk about transferring the tourist function."

Syas led the successful drive to kill LB213, which would have transferred tourism from the Game Commission to a new office.

Some $25,000 was appropriated for tourist promotion in the past biennium.

Sen. LeRoy Bahensky of St. Paul agreed that the tourism recommendation is "all right."

Bahensky said he expects the appropriation to be supplemented by an additional $50,000 to $75,000 from the sale of promotional stamps Bahensky's LB764 established the stamp program.

'Enough To Keep Up'

Together, these funds will provide "enough to keep up with our development," he said. "It is as fast as we can go."

Stromer, in reviewing University appropriations, pointed out: "It is interesting to note that the Budget Committee has recommended from all funds some $60,000 more than the governor."

All funds total $50,911,765 compared to Gov. Frank Morrison's$ 50,851,000. However, Morrison's general fund recommendations for the University are $1.6 million more than those proposed by the Budget Committee.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly suggested that if the University "can do the things that have to be done with this amount, then that's great."

Wants Study

However, he said he wishes to first study specifics of the proposal, particularly land acquisition funds.

"There now appears to be no specific authorization for such funds for the University." Warner noted. "We know that the campus will expand, and the University normally can buy most economically when the tracts become available from a willing seller."

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha suggested that the University "should not have any disappointments" over its building fund appropriations.

NU is "getting a tremendous amount of money from building funds," he said. A total of $4.3 million has been recommended for the biennium.

Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper said he will pursue a thorough study of recommendations for NU and for special education programs under the State Department of Education.

NU Will Have To Study Budget Bill 'In Detail'

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin said Monday night that NU officials will have to study the budget bill "in detail to determine its implications" before commenting on the recommended appropriations for the institution.

Hardin said he had not yet had an opportunity to learn more than the total figures involved in the Budget Committee's recommendations for NU, and that on that basis "it appears that growth and development is pretty much out of the picture."

The committee has recommended a general fund appropriation of $31.4 million for the next two years, an increase of $3.3 million over current appropriations, but $5.6 million under NU's request.

More Non-Tax Funds

The committee also has recommended appropriating $7.3 million in non-tax funds —$1 million more than the University had in its budget.

The $1 million boost comes from suggested tuition increases (to begin in the fall of 1964), a re-figuring of balances available, and a greater figure in projected enrollment increases.

In the analysis of committee recommendations prepared by Budget Chairman Richard Marvel it was estimated that an additional $350,000 could be obtained the second fiscal year through tuition increases.

The committee has recommended in its scale of tuition increases a change in NU's present formula to provide for an additional charge to those students carrying more than 16 hours.

The University now makes no differentiation in tuition charges to students carrying 12 hours or more.

From $102 to $125

Under the committee's recommended formula, resident undergraduate tuition would go up from the present $102 a semester to $125 for those carrying 12 to 16 hours. An additional charge of $8 per credit hour would be charged over 16 hours.

Non-resident undergraduates of 12 to 16 hours would go from the present $222 per semester to $275, with an added charge of $18.50 for each hour over 16 hours.

Resident graduate students of 12 to 16 hours would have their fees increased from $102 to $200 per semester, and non-resident graduates in this category would jump from $222 a semester to $375.

Increases also were recommended for the hourly fee charged part-time students in all categories.

7% Salary Hike

In his analysis, Marvel said the committee had provided funds which would permit a 7% annual increase in average faculty salaries, as well as sufficient money to permit the hiring of 34.4 full-time equivalent new faculty members at the instructor level.

The decision of how many faculty to hire, and at what level, is left to the University administration and the Board of Regents, Marvel said.

The average 7% annual increase was approved by the committee, he said, after reviewing salary data from several sources which indicated that the national average of faculty salaries probably will increase at just over 5% annually during the next two years.

"The committee is confident that the appropriation recommended for the instructional program will permit significant improvement in the relative position of Nebraska University faculty salaries, as well as sufficient resources to meet enrollment increases during the coming biennium," Marvel said.

Lower For Medical

The average annual salary increase allowed for faculties of the medical and dental colleges was lower than that of other faculty members—a 5% annual increase being recommended.

In the case of the medical college, the committee said it was allowing $150,000 of the $780,000 requested for additional faculty.

At the dental college, the committee said its recommendation would provide two new full-time instructors, two new part-time instructors, and two additional technical positions.

The committee said its recommendations also would permit the hiring of 46.98 additional full-time-equivalent nurses, orderlies, interns, technicians and administrative personnel at the University Hospital at Omaha.

The committee also said it allowed for $48,688 to replace obsolete engineering equipment for graduate research programs, and $200,000 to permit additional staffing and book purchases for University libraries.

Administrators Delay Comments

Various department heads contacted by the Star Monday night declined to comment saying generally that they had insufficient time to study Budget Committee appropriation recommendation figures.

Budget Highlights

Following are further highlights from the Monday report of the Legislature's Budget Committee:

Public Welfare

The committee recomended $15,491,240 in general funds for the Public Welfare Department, an increase of some $900,000 over current appropriations, but $630,000 less than the department requested.

The committee also estimated federal appropriations for this department at $29,971,652 for the next biennium, which is $1.2 million under the department's early estimate of these funds.

Quigley explained that the state is slated to receive less federal funds than was originally anticipated because of the federal allocation formula — to wit, Nebraska's population growth is below the national average, and the state's per capita income is increasing at a greater rate than the national average.

Safety Patrol

The Budget Committee has recommended some $5 million for the Safety Patrol which will allow the hiring of 35 additional patrolmen. Marvel explained this will bring the Patrol's strength back to the level which existed prior to the agency's cutting troopers' hours a year ago.

The Patrol had requested $5.5 million to hire 80 more patrolmen, and Morrison had recommended $5.2 million to allow hiring 60 more troopers.

Game Commission

The committee recommended $125,000 in general funds for the Game Commission for tourist promotion, an increase of about $100,000 over the amount appropriated the current two years, and $100,000 less than both the governor and the agency had requested.

Centennial Commission

A total of $50,000 was recommended for the Centennial Commission itself from the general fund, double the amount appropriated for the present two years. No appropriation was made for the centennial itself.

Most For Salary

A major share of the total budget increase for all agencies will go to salary increases and additional staff, Marvel said.

The committee adopted a general salary increase formula of 3.5% a year for most state employes, with raises of 5% to 7% allowed in some key positions where professional staff is difficult to find and difficult to keep," Marvel said.

Personnel and agencies which were given the higher percentage increases included faculty and professional members of higher education institutions; engineers in the Department of Roads; accountants in the Auditor's Office, and professional staff at the University of Nebraska hospital and some institutions.

Marvel said the committee tried to "approach scientifically" the need for additional equipment and additional staff for the various agencies.

He said the budget bill is "as near as you can arrive at program budgeting which is still in its infancy," adding that program budgeting as such cannot be fully instituted until the state's accounting system is set up on a program basis.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

One Of Nation's Best Sailors Began At 42

By ROBERT PETERSON

One of the most brilliant sports stories of success after 40 concerns Richard S. Nye of Greenwich, Conn. He had never set foot on a sailboat until he was past that milestone. Yet in the ensuing decade and a half he has emerged as one of the nation's greatest sailors.

"It all started when I was 42," said Nye, a stocky native of New York in his late 50's with blue eyes and steel gray hair and mustache. "I lost my partner in the proxy business and bought his interest from the estate. The executor asked if I wanted to buy his 42-foot sailing sloop and something prompted me to say yes. I didn't have the slightest idea how to sail the boat, but I had a young son and thought we might have some fun with it."

That summer Nye learned the rudiments of sailing from a chap who had sailed the boat for its late owner. By the following summer Nye needed no further instruction, but still hesitated taking the boat out unless accompanied by an experienced sailor. After observing several sailboat races Nye decided this was for him.

He spent much of his leisure time thereafter studying racing tactics and techniques. Then he bought a 46-foot yawl which had won the Detroit-Mackinac race the previous year and entered his first race—the Newport, R.I., to Annapolis, Md., Race—winning seventh in his calas.

That same summer he won the Riverside, Conn., to Nantucket, Mass., Race—his initial blue ribbon in an awesome winning streak to come. In 1951, he won first overall in the Marblehead, Mass., to Halifax, Nova Scotia Race. In 1952 he won he had his first taste of trans-oceanic sailing when he cruised with a crew of four to Cowes, England, and proceeded to win second first overall in the Newport, R.I., to Bermuda Race. Then in 1953 he had his first taste of trans-oceanic sailing when he cruised with a crew of four to Cowes, England, and proceeded to win second place in the famed Fastnet Race.

His international fame as a sailor came to flower in 1955 when he built a new 54-foot yawl in Germany. Just two weeks after delivery in the U.S. he embarked as skipper of the "Carina" with a crew of seven on the famed Newport, R.I., to Marstrand, Sweden, Race—the first trans-Atlantic race since 1933.

To the astonishment of everyone in upper racing echelons, Nye, the elderly newcomer, won the race against seven other boats which started—all manned by skippers of racing renown. Riding the crest of this triumph he entered the English races in Cowes Week and won the Brittania Cup. Then he entered the Fastnet Race and amazed the yachting world by winning that one, too.

In 1957 he won the race from Newport, R.I., to Santander, Spain. Then he sailed from Spain to England and again won the Brittania Cup and Fastnet Race. And in 1959 he cruised to England and entered the Fastnet Race again. He failed to win this time, but finished first in his class with a respectable third place in fleet.

"We've gone down the drain plenty of times," said this man whose den boasts many of the most renowned trophies in yachting, "but I've really enjoyed my middle-aged sailing career and will always be glad I acted on the impulse to buy that boat."

Nye's story should give inspiration to those past 40 who fear they're too old for new tricks. If you forget about age and face the challenge of new experiences, you may tap interests and talents you never knew existed.

If you would like a booklet "Exercises for Folks Past 40" write to this column c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

2 Negro Orphans Kept Out Of Pool After Whites Jeer

Baltimore (AP)—Two Negro orphans were kept out of a municipal swimming pool Monday after white children jeered them.

The Negro boy about 10 years old and girl about 13 were among 18 brought to the pool in central Baltimore from the Clyburn Home for Orphans.

White children inside the pool lined the fence and yelled such taunts as "Nigger, get out of here."

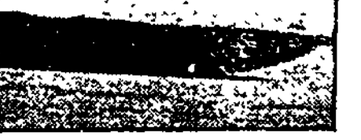

Although Floyd Stevens, director of the home, was assured by police the children would be protected, he decided to keep them out of the pool. The other white orphans went for a swim.

Although all municipal pools in Baltimore have been declared integrated, the one visited by the orphans has been used only by whites.

The city pools opened for the summer last Saturday noon.

Thurmond Tosses 1st Punch Against Civil Rights Program

Washington (UPI)—Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., Monday tossed the first of a series of legislative stumbling blocks southerners will employ against President Kennedy's civil rights program.

Thurmond notified Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., that he will object to meetings of the Senate Commerce Committee while the Senate is in session. The committee has scheduled the opening congressional hearing for Tuesday on the President's most controversial proposal.

Thurmond's objection means that the committee will be able to take testimony only in the hours the Senate is not meeting. Similar one-man objections could impede other committees when they begin hearings on the legislative package.

Assigned Proposal

The Commerce Committee has been assigned the administration's public accommodations proposal to end segregation in restaurants, hotels and similar facilities under the federal government's interstate commerce powers.

Meantime Rep. John Dent, D-Pa., said his House education subcommittee will conduct hearings Wednesday on bills to shut off all federal school aid where racial discrimination is practiced. He said 52 such bills, in one form or another, have been introduced, by both Democrats and Republicans.

President Kennedy, as part of his new civil rights package, asked for authority to cut off federal aid to racially-segregated activities in edudid not propose that Congress cation and other fields but make this mandatory.

The administration's omnibus civil rights bill wound up Monday night with 46 cosponsors, 4 short of the 50 which Democratic whip Hubert H. Humphrey earlier predicted it would draw. The final signers were Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Frank E. Moss, D-Utah and Gale McGee, D-Wyo.

Indicate Battle

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of southern forces, gave additional indication of the battle Dixie senators will wage. He sharply attacked the accommodations proposal.

In a Senate speech, Russell said a similar law passed by a Reconstruction Congress in 1875 to prohibit discrimination in public and private businesses was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court in 1883.

"I have not heard any of the liberal brethren rise and defend that 1883 decision, Russell declared.

The Georgia Democrat also said the President, in proposing broad civil rights reforms, had "given aid and comfort" to demonstrators who "have shown the utmost contempt for police departments in the South."

Russell maintained that the rights conflict apparently was being "thought out, not with reason, but as an emotional issue without any regard" to individual rights, "except those designated by the census bureau as non-whites."

Desegregation Suits Against Federally Aided Cities OKd

Richmond, Va. (UPI)—A federal judge ruled Monday the United States has the right to file school desegregation suits against communities which accept government aid for federally impacted areas.

U.S. District Judge John D. Butzner said, in effect, that because Prince George County, Va., accepts U.S. funds to help educate children of personnel at the Ft. Lee Army Post it must not discriminate against Negro children from the base.

The ruling, while binding Virginia, was expected to give a boost to the Justice Department's campaign against school segregation in other areas of the South and in border states which receive federal funds to help educate children of personnel on government installations.

Dismissed

A similar suit filed last January against the Huntsville, Ala., School Board where the Army's Redstone Arsenal and the Marshall Space Flight Center are located was dismissed. Judge H. H. Grooms ruled May 29 in Birmingham that "except in the field of voting rights, the Congress has granted the government no authority to bring such a suit . . ."

The decision currently is under appeal and a higher court apparently will establish precedent in the case.

Butzner said the county school board gave assurance in a contract with the U.S. that children living on Ft. Lee would be given school facilities "as they are available to other children" in the county under state law.

Evidence

Although state law makes no mention of race in school assignments, Butzner said "the evidence discloses that the county school board and the State Pupil Placement Board assigned the federally connected children on the basis of race."

Butzner said the government does have the right to "sue to enforce the contract made by the school board and the United States."

He agreed with earlier court rulings that the government cannot seek to force school desegregation on the basis of the 14th Amendment.

Butzner noted that the government did not ask for general desegregation of the county's public schools, but sought relief only for federally-connected children.

Terry Will Ask For Disinterring Of Eyeglass Bill

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff Monday said he will ask legislative reconsideration and revival of LB788, a bill killed last week by the Unicameral.

In its original form, the measure would have banned false advertising relating to eyeglasses and related materials, and halted advertising of prices on such merchandise.

Carpenter said he would seek to amend the bill to place a ban on misleading advertising of all products.

The bill, which contains Carpenter's name as sponsor, was killed while he was in Scottsbluff last week.

Men Quizzed On Rumors, Miss Keeler

Washington (AP) — Three U.S. Air Force men are undergoing questioning about rumors connecting them with British party girl Christine Keeler, the Pentagon said Monday.

"Security is our basic concern," Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester told reporters in acknowledging that the Air Force men had been returned to the United States for questioning last Friday.

So far, the investigation indicates no U.S. military personnel have been involved in any security aspect of the Profumo case, Sylvester said.

Britain's War Secretary John Profumo resigned recently after disclosure of relations with Miss Keeler, who also was said to have been the mistress of an assistant Soviet naval attache in London.

Sylvester declined to identify the airmen on grounds it would be unfair to them to do so. Sylvester also refused to say where the men are now. None is a commissioned officer.

He said that it was felt "questioning could be done better here."

To his knowledge, the defense spokesman said, no other members of any U. S. armed service are involved in the case.

The central figure in the affair, society osteopath Dr. Stephen Ward meanwhile was hit with 8 new vice charges — involving abortion and procurement for prostitution — and again ordered held without bail.

De Varona Heads Cuban Council

Miami (UPI)—The Cuban Revolutionary Council Monday closed ranks behind former prime minister Manuel A. (Tony) De Varona and named him president to succeed Dr. Antonio Maceo who resigned with an angry attack on the council over the weekend.

At the same time the council "reiterated and confirmed" its announcement last Thursday that "the landing and definite infiltration in Cuba of some of its commando units" did take place.

It also said news of the landings was made public "at the petition of the commands, many days after the landings had been realized and after two radio transmissions had already been received."

'Rejects Motives'

In accepting Maceo's resignation the council said it "energetically rejects the motives" which prompted Maceo to quit.

The 9 remaining council members announced their decisions after an hour and 45-minute meeting.

Maceo stepped down in protest against last Thursday's "war communique" which announced the landings. Unconfirmed reports said the communique was made public without Maceo's knowledge or consent.

In his resignation statement Maceo, grandson of Cuban independence hero Gen. Antonio Maceo, attacked the council for making too many statements which he said jeopardized "those who are risking their lives" in Cuba.

Third President

De Varona, who has been the "number two" man in the council since its formation before the April 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion, became its third president and the second one since last April when Dr. Jose Miro Cardona quit with a bitter attack on U.S. Cuba policy.

At a press conference de Varona was asked if the council backed Sen. Barry Goldwater's proposal that an exile government be set up in the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

"The council has no comment on the proposal," he replied.

Besides rejecting suggestions that the landings were never carried out and defending its action in announcing them the council "rejected any responsibility for the false or exaggerated interpretations" given to the official communique.

Although the council never specified how many men were involved sources close to it repeatedly said that only a "relatively few" men were involved.

'Framers' Intent Nixed In Prayer Ruling'—Martin

Washington — Rep. Dave Martin of Kearney Monday said that the U.S. Supreme Court "overruled the intent of the framers of our Constitution" in its recent public school prayer decision.

"From my mail, it is evident that thousands of our people are incensed over this decision," the Third District Republican declared.

"I feel that the court made a mistake, regardless of the legal angles involved."

$233,000 Earmarked For State's Airports

The State Aeronautics Commission has allocated $233,308 in state money for airport improvement and construction projects for the fiscal year starting July 1, it was disclosed Monday.

This includes $188,558 for air carrier airports with commercial flights, and $44,750 for general aviation airports.

In most cases, the state contribution will be matched by the local community, with the federal government paying half the total cost of the project.

The projects:

ALLIANCE—$6,250 toward installation of medium intensity lighting on the northeast-southwest runway. Total cost is $25,000

BASSETT—An additional $5,000 for construction of a hard-surfaced northwest-southeast runway and taxiway. Total cost is $36,000

CRETE—$28,500 for construction of a north-south runway with turnabouts, apron extension, connecting taxiway and T-hangar taxiway, medium intensity lighting for the north-south runway, beacon and wind cone, and land for landing strip extension and clearance zone. Total cost is $114,000

KIMBALL—$11,250 toward construction of a bituminous overlay on existing oil cement base course of the northwest-southeast runway and connecting taxiway. Total cost is $45,000

McCOOK—An additional $3,700 for paving with asphalt of the outside 20 feet on either side of the northwest-southeast runways. The total cost of the airport's state-community project is $20,000

SCOTTSBLUFF—$5,000 toward rehabilitating all paving points. The work, in which no federal funds are involved, will be done over a 3-year period and cost $30,000

LINCOLN—$17,625 toward a $69,700 project involving a new emergency generator, taxiway lighting and painting of airfield markers. In addition, $25,000 was allocated for a service road paving job, part of a nearly $1 million paving construction project.

Allocations for several projects in Omaha totaled $87,183. They included:

—$12,000 for additional work on a northwest access road. Total cost $48,000

—$1,750 for a jet aviation access road.

—$55,100 additional toward a $1 million runway extension and taxiway lighting project nearing completion.

—An additional $833 for general aviation apron area. Total cost is $31,000.

—Around $20,000 toward another general aviation project.

Walter Kreuscher, deputy state aviation director, said the commission expects to be able to allocate around $67,000 more during the fiscal year coming up.

Right now, applications are pending for new general aviation airports at Albion, Alma and Arapahoe, and for pavement work on airstrips at Minden and Neligh.

Kreuscher, who expects these to be considered during the next 12 months, said they would involve state allocations totaling $68,500, just about the amount expected to be on hand.

Carpenter Blasts Herrington Tax Statement

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Terry Carpenter Monday issued a strong blast at Nebraska Tax Research Council Executive Director Fred Herrington for his statement last week that the state does not need another tax study as proposed by the Scottbluff senator.

Carpenter charged that when Herrington was state tax commissioner, he was always putting "one foot forward and two backward" in the enforcement of Nebraska's tax laws, and that Herrington was "directly responsible for the defeat of Gov. (Victor) Anderson for having him follow his suggestion of lack of enforcement of the tax laws."

Carpenter further charged that Herrington was now in his "proper place as executive director of the Nebraska Tax Research Council, a position he earned by long years of taxing people on who they are, not what they have.

"From my personal contact with him when he was tax commissioner, I know from actual experience that he was very effective in nullifying the application of many tax laws, because he had all the authority anybody could have and he didn't do it," Carpenter continued.

Herrington "knows you can pass all the tax laws in the world," Carpenter added, but they are meaningless "until we find somebody to enforce them."

The Scottsbluff senator said the tax study he has proposed in Resolution 28 "attempts to prove what the introducer already know exists, and that is that all the people and all the forces of tax enforcement, from the governor down to the county assessors have never fulfilled their duties and obligations.

'Truth Forthcoming'

"I can undertand Mr. Herrington's apprehension of having Resolution 28 passed by the Legislature and having myself as chairman," Carpenter continued, adding that the "truth that would be forthcoming from such a study would show the complete lack of need for either a sales or income tax."

The Scottsbluff senator then declared that if the Legislature does not authorize the study, it would leave him with "no other course but to take the problem right to the people in the forthcoming election of 1964."

Asked if this meant he would be candidate for governor, Carpenter said, "I don't mean to infer that at all," but he made it clear he considers the matter of taxation to be the single issue on which the gubernatorial campaign should be conducted.

He also defined his interest as being directed against anyone who favors an income tax, but he left the door open for sales tax proponents.

Carpenter said he was "personally opposed" to a sales tax, but that he does not take the same attitude against it he holds toward the income tax.

Foster Asks Rules Change For Budget

Freshman Sen. Clifton Foster of Bradshaw Monday proposed a rules change under which the Legislature's Budget Committee in future sessions would be required to report out the appropriations bill by May 1.

The suggestion was made just hours before the expected introduction of the 1963 appropriations bill.

Had Foster's rule been in effect, the bill would have been required to reach the floor nearly 8 weeks ago.

The Foster proposal was submitted to the Rules Committee for recommendation.

Hoffa Posts $2,500 Bond

Chicago (UPI)—Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa surrendered to a U.S. Marshal Monday and posted $2,500 bond to guarantee his appearance at a scheduled federal court arraignment on fraud charges Tuesday.

During his brief appearance in Chicago's Federal Courthouse, Hoffa who appeared calm and quiet, was taken to the marshal's office for fingerprinting.

Hoffa told newsmen he would make no statement. He said if he had anything to say about the multi-million dollar fraud indictment he would say it after his arraignment Tuesday. He is scheduled to answer charges that he and seven other persons fraudulently obtained $20 million in loans from the Teamster pension funds and diverted more than $1 million of it for their own use.

Sandhill Area Attractive To Ag Managers

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Valentine — The largest gathering of professional farm managers over to visit Nebraska reached the midway point here Monday in the 1963 National convention of the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers.

The grass-covered hills and valleys of the 40,000 square-mile Sandhills proved a prime attraction to more than 400 farm managers as they started appraisal tours of ranches in the area.

The employment of a professional farm manager is increasing both in the Corn Belt and throughout the United States, said veteran farm manager Bruce Russell of Omaha.

Most farm managers expect higher prices to continue on real estate, and as prices increase management of property becomes more important, delegates said.

The fast-moving events in agriculture make it difficult to keep pace with changing practices and technologies, a spokesman for the group added.

"If you are out of agriculture two weeks now, you are a has-been," said Russell.

Bill Liberalizing Eminent Domain Laws Advanced

A bill liberalizing Nebraska's law of eminent domain Monday won 31-2 first round endorsement on the floor of the Legislature.

The measure, LB553, was spnsored by Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, then amended on the floor by Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala.

In its amended form, the bill allows payment of damages on a basis of those found "compensable" under Nebraska case law. Specifically included are abstracting expenses.

Further, the bill provides for reasonable compensation for attorney's fees as determined by the court if the condemnee on appeal recovers an amount 15% greater than the original offer.

LB553 grew out of eminent domain problems connected with construction of the Interstate Highway, particularly in the Omaha area.

Carpenter said that the State Department of Roads has "beaten these people out of a lot of money they were entitled to. It has been the policy of this governor and his predecessors to pay them just the least amount possible."

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha said the Highway Department "makes more Communists than Russia could."

Mahoney charged "a lack of justice" in interstate eminent domain proceedings in his legislative district.

"You could get your just dues if you had prestige, money and attorneys," he declared. "Otherwise, there was no justice."

Sen. Marvin E Stromer of Lincoln said that he is "sick and tired . . . of seeing the people get the short end of the stick" in highway condemnation cases.

In its original form, LB553 sought compensation payments for full damages, an even more liberal interpretation.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha proposed that the issue be the subject of a Legislative Council interim study. His effort to strike one liberalizing feature of the bill was shouted down on a voice vote.

Danner Asks Study Of Hiring Practices

Negro Sen. Edward R. Danner of Omaha introduced in the Legislature Monday a resolution calling for a Legislative Council interim study of hiring practices in the state, both public and private.

"All citizens of the Sovereign State of Nebraska should have equal opportunity to seek and secure employment," the resolution said.

The proposed study committee would maintain liaison with the Human Relations Commission appointed by Gov. Frank Morrison

The resolution, No. 64, substitutes for one which Danner introduced last week but later withdrew for revision. At the time he introduced the original resolution, he was not aware that the governor had appointed a human relations group.

The resolution was referred to the Legislative Council Executive Committee for recommendation.

Fair employment practices legislation, designed to make illegal any discrimination in hiring because of race, creed, color or national origin, was introduced but died at the current legislative session.

Clarence Danley Resigns Railway Commission Post

Clarence Danley Monday announced his resignation as secretary of the Nebraska State Railway Commission

Danley said he considers his recent salary raise inadequate in view of the fact the commission secretary is prohibited by law from practicing law.

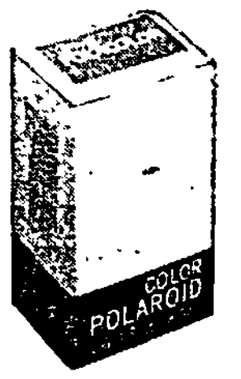

The current Legislature has raised the salary of the commission secretary from $7,000 to $8,000 a year.

"The restriction which does not allow outside employment plus the ultra conservative salary makes this, at present, a position untenable for an attorney," he said

Danley asked the commissioners to find a replacement as soon as possible. The commission secretary does not have to be an attorney.

2-Year Traffic Study Participation Okayed

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City Council Monday authorized an agreement for the city's participation in a two-year, $125,000 traffic and transportation study for the Lincoln metropolitan area.

The city's cost of the detailed study will not exceed $15,000, with the remainder to be paid by the federal government, state and county.

Council members questioned Planning Director Douglas Brogden and Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger about the detailed study before adopting the resolution authorizing Mayor Dean Petersen to sign the agreement with the State Roads Department.

1985 Projection

Brogden and Holsinger said the origin and destination study would project traffic to 1985 and when completed would provide the city with traffic flow data, areas of growth and desired routes.

Brogden said Lincoln's major street program would be reviewed when the study is completed and any necessary revisions made.

He also told the council that the traffic study will be a requirement of the federal government after July 1, 1965, for future allocation of urban highway funds.

Big Value

Holsinger said Lincoln "is getting a lot of traffic study data for $15,000."

"It will provide information for immediate traffic needs, which could be made at relatively little cost, as well as future needs," he said.

Under the $125,000, the Kansas City consulting firm of Burgwin and Martin, highway and traffic engineers, would receive $96,000. Other costs would be those of local agencies.

The city's share of the study over a two-year period will be paid from street improvement funds, and will not involve property tax funds.

Brogden said the City-County Planning Department had been working on preliminary information for the study for nearly one year and will provide land use and other economic data.

Constant Updating

Holsinger stressed that the traffic study must be continually brought up to date after its completion.

The 1985-projected traffic study will include Lincoln and the metropolitan area, including Raymond, Davey, Waverly, Malcolm, Denton, Bennet, Roca, Sprague, Hickman, Panama, Hallam and Firth.

Special studies will be included to ascertain major routes for these urbanized areas.

The proposed two-year study will include:

—economic and land use factors affecting traffic patterns.

—inventory of existing transportation facilities and traffic patterns.

—a 10% sample of all Lincoln and area residents to determine desired traffic routes.

—forecast of traffic for 1970, 1975, 1980 and 1985.

—formulation of a master transportation plan, cost estimates and alternative solutions and plans.

—establish a continuing comprehensive traffic planning program.

Gas Co. Loses Interest In Zoning For Industry

The Northern Propane Gas Co. is no longer interested in southwest corner of 27th and Superior, the City Council was advised Monday.

However, the council deferred public hearing on the rezoning until next Monday after being informed that the owner of the tract, Robert Carroll, intends to press the application.

Attorney Robert Guenzel said Northern Propane will locate on a Harley Bair industrial tract north of the proposed Brunswick Corp., plant instead of constructing a $50,000 distribution facility at 27th and Superior.

Heavy Opposition

Industrial zoning for 27th and Superior had drawn considerable opposition. Later, Northern had suggested highway commercial with a special permit for the propane gas facility.

In other action, the council denied 4-1 requested local business zoning for the northwest and northeast corners of 48th and Adams.

Zoning proponents were A. Clifford Anderson, Florence Benson and Morton G. Robinson.

An attorney for opponents reminded the council that the proposed rezoning had twice previously been denied under heavy opposition by residential owners and the Lincoln school board.

4-Family Vote

The council on a 2-3 vote failed to take affirmative action for approval of 4-family dwelling zoning for a lot on 27th between B and C as requested by Adolph Hock Jr.

The council must revote on the zoning application until 4 affirmative votes for or against the zoning change are cast.

Council vote Monday was: For — Becker and Petersen. Against — Comstock, Hinkley and Tyrrell. Absent — Boosalis and Mason.

Council action on other ordinances:

'Lincoln Can Develop Dam's Park Potential'

Park Supt. James Ager advised the City Council Monday that Lincoln could develop the recreational potential of Corps of Engineers Dam 10 south of Pioneers Park under negotiations with the State Game Commission.

Ager said Mel Steen, Game Commission director was agreeable to the city's developing any of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed reservoirs as long as the recreational facilities are dedicated to public use.

However, Steen estimated Dam 10's recreational cost at close to $100,000 with annual operation expense of $6,000, Ager said.

No Objection

Steen has no objection to the city's taking over the 1966-projected reservoir of 170 acres as this state money could be used on the others.

However, Steen suggested the city's first obligation may be to buy up the flood-plain land for recreational development rather than biting off the cost of developing the reservoirs.

Ager indicated that any major Lancaster County park developments should be jointly undertaken by the city and county.

'No Advantage'

Councilman Lloyd Hinkley suggested Lincoln would have no advantage in taking over a reservoir that will be developed by another public agency.

"We've got all we can handle right now," he added.

Lincoln has put some $500,000 into the development of Holmes Park (Antelope Creek Dam park area near 56th and Van Dorn) and an 18-hole municipal golf course.

No immediate action was taken on Ager's report requested by the council.

Landslide On Koje Buries Over Hundred

Pusan, Korea (AP) — A landslide following a nightlong rain buried more than 100 persons on the South Korean island of Koje Monday. Rescuers by noon had recovered 55 bodies.

National police said 9 victims were policemen who were directing an emergency evacuation in the village of Changsungpo on the island 25 miles west of Pusan.

At least 20 houses were buried when an embankment supporting the village high school collapsed after being weakened by the all-night rain.

It was not known how many persons were engulfed, but estimates ran as high as 150.

Five inches of rain fell Monday night in the Pusan area, which was still recovering from damage caused by typhoon Shirley last Thursday.

City Adopts Power Policy Paper

The City Council Monday unanimously adopted a policy statement regarding electric service under LB633-authorized consolidation of the Public Power District distribution systems in Lincoln.

The policy, also approved by Mayor Dean H. Petersen, was recommended by the City Power Advisory Board at a meeting last Tuesday.

The 9-point statement is largely intended to clear the air of rumors and misinformation in connection with LB633, which will become effective in late 1963 and authorizes negotiations for consolidation of the two systems and their operation by the city within one year.

Points Outlined

The statement outlines these points:

—both municipal and Consumers properties are publicly-owned and LB633 is intended to eliminate duplicating management, lines and services in Lincoln.

—the great advantage of LB633 secured to Lincoln is giving the city control of its own utilities and placing both distribution systems under local management.

—no debt will be incurred in the consolidation; revenues will go to pay off Consumers debt applicable to the Lincoln property just as if the power district continued to operate the property.

No Discrimination

—the rumor that residential rates will be raised to provide more favorable industiral rates is "completely false," and local government pledges no preferential or discriminatory treatment of any class of customer.

—the city hopes that all Consumers employes would continue under the city-operated consolidated system and are entitled to the same salaries, seniority and employment benefits they are now receiving.

—LB633 requires all revenues from Consumers' Lincoln system be available for retirement or accumulated reserves for bonds on Consumers debt as applicable to the Lincoln property.

City: Fair Deal

—the city anticipates dealing fairly and generously with Consumers in the integration of the two distribution systems in Lincoln and not disturbing the power district's service to other communities.

—the city sincerely hopes to work out an orderly transition into the integration of the two systems for which it believes will be the ultimate benefit of Lincoln citizens and result in a future saving of substantial sums of money.

—power needs are growing and the city pledges its efforts to integration of the two systems and long-range planning for growth and orderly elimination of wasteful duplication.

Business Complains; East O Barricade Revisions Slated

East O detour barricades at 48th and 50th will be revised to advise local traffic it can still reach O St. businesses between 48th and 56th.

Mayor Dean Petersen and Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger agreed that sign changes would be made following a complaint by several East O property owners.

Attorney Lloyd Marti said the business owners want to cooperate with the city on street construction progress, but said the barricades are unnecessary at 50th and 48th and are seriously affecting business.

He said these included Holly Motel, Misle Chevrolet, Sleepy Hollow Motel, MacDonald's Drive-In, Tony and Luigi's and Kinney's Shoe Store.

Through Traffic

Holsinger said the city doesn't want to detour local traffic from reaching the business places, but was attempting to reroute highway and other through traffic away from the East O construction.

He also noted that considerable traffic congestion can develop at 56th and Vine unless traffic, not wishing to reach the 48th to 56th business area, takes the suggested alternate routes.

Julian Hopkins, attorney for Bankers Life Nebraska and the Gateway Shopping Center, said plans are to open R from 56th to 58th on a temporary right-of-way to alleviate traffic problems.

Delay By Rain

City Engineer Carl Fisher said a temporary route for R to Cotner is being opened, but was delayed by Monday's heavy rains.

Councilman Ervin Peterson complimented Holsinger for being on the job over the weekend, noting he observed the traffic engineer working on several traffic hot spots Saturday.

Court—City Can Use Winnett Garden Trust

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett E. Boyles Monday gave the city of Lincoln the go-ahead to use income from an estate trust from the late Hudson J. Winnett for development of a park area to be called "Winnett Gardens."

Winnett, who died in 1918, bequeathed the residue of his estate, following the death of his wife, in trust for the city to be used to pay hospital expenses of indigent patients and to provide capital improvements in city parks.

Boyles ruled that certain restrictions in the will—which was drawn up in 1916—would substantially impair accomplishment of the trust's purposes because "significant and far-reaching changes have occurred in economic and financial conditions . . . which could not have been anticipated by the testator."

Can Be Used

He ruled that the portion of the trust income set aside for city parks could be used for the creation of Winnett Gardens, although the original will said the income was limited to use for erection of fountains, tablets on historical events, statuary and permanent decorations.

City Park Supt. Jim Ager said the preliminary plans for Winnett Gardens call for development of a portion of Antelope Park south of D St. and east of 27th, with a fountain as the basic feature and several major floral displays.

Judge Boyles further ordered that the $10 per week limitation on patient care payments for the indigent be removed and payment of actual cost of patient care be permitted from the Winnett trust income.

Investment

Investment of trust funds in authorized securities other than the municipal securities specified in the will was also authorized.

The Winnett trust reverted to the city following the death of Mrs. Winnett in 1958.

The city brought suit against Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer and County Atty. Paul Douglas to determine whether the allocation of the money for the proposed park area was legal, and to attempt to change out-dated portions of the trust restrictions.

Nebraska City, Omaha Cable To Increase Circuits

Installation of a long distance telephone underground cable between Nebraska City and Omaha will start this week and be completed about July 19, the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced.

This will increase circuits between these points from 19 to 36 and provide additional service also to Union. Later on, circuits will be added for Plattsmouth.

The Lincoln company will install cable from Nebraska City to the Platte River north of Plattsmouth where it will connect with lines of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company. Additional circuits will be needed next February at Nebraska City when dial service and direct distance dialing is placed in service.

The cable will be plowed 3 feet into the ground with special equipment which digs a trench, lays the cable and covers it in one operation. The contractor is the Diamond Engineering Co. of Grand Island.

Elsewhere, cables are being installed between Waco and Utica and north of Aurora to connect with the transcontinental long distance cable near there. Underground cables for rural lines are being installed near Shickley and Ohiowa.

Women Won't Move

Georgetown, British Guiana (AP)—Police set off tear gas to chase away about 50 women blocking the entrances to two government offices. Singing "We shall not be moved," the women returned later in greater numbers and chanted protests against Marxist Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan.

Secret Service Breaks Ring Of Counterfeiters

Washington (AP) — An undercover Secret Service man has broken a counterfeiting ring in Durham, N.C., and about $1 million in bogus currency has been recovered, a Treasury official said Monday night.

Three men have been arrested after one of them attempted to sell $30,000 worth of counterfeit money to the undercover agent, the Treasury spokesman said.

Roy Lee Matthews, 33, of Durham, was arrested, the spokesman said, and $70,000 was recovered from his automobile.

Bills Hidden Away

The Secret Service and Durham police then found an estimated $900,000 in phony bills hidden away, the Treasury official said.

He said police then arrested Robert C. Ferguson, 43, and R. B. Poole, 33, both of Durham. Ferguson operates a printing shop and Poole is his assistant.

A fourth man, Walter Haywood Forbush, 48, was arrested later Monday night at his home in Souht Boston, Va., and taken to Durham for arraignment. Agents said he had $34,000 of the counterfeit money in his possession.

The Treasury spokesman said Durham Police Chief W. W. Pleasants and the Secret Service collaborated in the case.

A Secret Service official in Washington said the $900,000 in counterfeit was found in Matthews' home in Durham.

All of the currency were $20 Federal Reserve notes.

Variations

"There were several variations of the $20 bill," the Secret Service official said, "but to our knowledge, none of them has ever been circulated. So, there was no loss to the public.

The plates had been destroyed. They got rid of the plates before they tried to do anything with the money."

U.S. Atty. William Murdock, whose headquarters are in Greensboro, N.C., was in Durham for the arraignment of the 3 men.

Vernon Spicer, special agent in charge of Secret Service operations in North Carolina and South Carolina, said in Charlotte, N.C., Monday night that Matthews, a used car salesman, tried to pass the bogus currency to the undercover agent Monday afternoon in a Durham hotel room.

REFERENDUM PETITIONS ARE STOLEN

Olympia, Wash. (AP)—Almost 83,000 signatures supporting a proposed referendum on a gambling law enacted by the 1963 Washington legislature was stolen over the weekend, a state official said Monday.

The signatures were on petitions in a vault in the secretary of state's office.

The vault, which opens onto a public hallway, apparently was opened by correct manipulation of the dial. There was no evidence it had been entered by force.

State Elections Supervisor Kenneth Gilbert, who reported the theft, said the petitions were to have been kept in the vault until after July 1. A check was to be made then as to the validity of the signatures.

The referendum was virtually certain of being certified to the November, 1964, election ballot because only 48,630 valid signatures were required.

CORREGIDOR CHUNK GIVEN TO MACARTHUR

New York (AP) — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur Monday received a 30-pound piece of the island of Corregidor — last bastion of the Philippines' defense at the begining of World War II from which MacArthur directed the heroic defense of Bataan.

The chunk of reddish granite was given to MacArthur in his Waldorf Towers suite by Rufino G. Hechanova, Philippine secretary of commerce and industry.

The rock came from the mouth of the Malinta Tunnel, a focal point of resistance by Filipino and America forces in 1942 before its capture by the Japanese.

Jewelry Missing

Rome (UPI) — Police reported that jewelry valued at about $40,000 disappeared from the Rome villa of Mrs Carlo Ponti, wife of the Italian producer linked with actress Sophia Loren.

Boards Approve Rock Island And CNW Rail Merger

Chicago (AP)—Directors of the Chicago and North Western Railway have approved a proposition to seek control of the Rock Island Railroad through stock ownership, the North Western announced Monday.

The announcement said the directors, meeting in New York, also directed the railway's management to apply to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to consolidate the lines.

The board also authorized the railroad's management, the annnouncement said, to initiate immediate discussions with the Milwaukee road to explore a possible three-way merger of the Rock Island, North Western and Milwaukee road.

Strike Set

New York (AP)—The Brotherhood of Sleeping-Car Porters announced Monday it will strike the New York Central, Rock Island and Soo Line railroads and the Pullman Co. next Monday.

A. Philip Randolph, the Porters' international president, said it would be the first nationwide strike by a union under Negro leadership.

Severe Crop Losses Seen In East Area

Extremely heavy rains over eastern Nebraska Sunday night and Monday morning brought winter wheat harvest operations to a temporary halt, with the possibility of severe losses in some areas.

Crop on bottomland suffered the heaviest damage, according to Kenneth Logan, state-federal crop statistician in Lincoln.

It is too late in the season to replant any washed-out corn fields, the crop expert explained.

Wheat fields hit by the driving rain undoubtedly suffered damage, Logan said, as the grain was knocked down, causing shattering.

If the rain halts and the next two weeks bring good harvest weather, benefits from the heavy rain may offset the loss, Logan predicted.

Any additional moisture coming after Sunday night's downpour was running off and not doing any good, he explained. The ground was thoroughly saturated before Monday morning's drenching, he said.

Prior to the Monday rain, the moisture was a big aid to a depleted subsoil moisture supply, according to Logan.

Local Health Man Thwarted In Try To Reach Hallam

A Lincoln-Lancaster Health Department official was turned back Monday in an attempt to reach Hallam to investigate the flooded town's water supply.

The department's sanitation division reported that no other village water supplies have been reported flooded or endangered, but advised Lancaster residents to chlorinate or boil water they suspect may be contaminated.

Drinking Water Danger In Flood Areas Revealed

The possibility of contaminated drinking water triggered an investigation by the State Health Department in the David City area Monday.

Dr. George Pickett, head of the chornic disease control division, said he sent a team of public health officials to personally check the local water supply around David City, Bruno and Bellwood.

Dr. Pickett indicated his office had received several calls expressing concern that flooding might have caused sewage to back up into the local water supply or to mix with well water.

Investigators Ken Gobarts and Clint Weber said they were not sure they could complete the check by Monday night, and Dr. Pickett advised residents of these areas to clorinate or boil their drining water before using it.

Omaha Apartment Builder Is Dead

Omaha (AP)—A retired Omaha contractor, who built many apartment structures, is dead at the age of 72. Andre C. Knutson died at his home after a short illness.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter and 3 sons. Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at N. P. Swanson Mortuary.

2 Buses Stalled; Flooded Roads Hurt Transport

Local flooding across roads and highways Monday hindered public transportation routes across the state.

The Capital City Stage and Falls City Bus Lines reported two stalled vehicles.

The Safety Patrol accompanied Lincoln-stationed buses to Fremont and to the Lincoln Memorial Park vicinity to evacuate passengers from the buses.

Schedules Changed

Other bus schedules were altered as roads to small towns were covered and closed by swirling waters.

Both the Burlington and the Rock Island railroads reported their service on branch lines was slowed, and in some cases stopped, due to water across tracks.

Frontier and United Airlines both indicated flight service across the state was not impaired by the weather.

Red Cross Volunteers Are Alerted

Red Cross volunteers have been alerted to stand by in Lancaster County, and have been mobilized in other southeastern Nebraska counties.

A mobile canteen unit was dispatched Monday with volunteers from the Lancaster chapter to David City for use in flood relief, and the American Legion Hall in Ashland was being readied for shelter use if necessary.

A schoolhouse has been designated in Raymond as a standby Red Cross shelter and in Agnew, Mrs. Charles Dudek was referring flood refugees to the Lincoln office.

The Lancaster chapter has also offered its services to Mrs. Catherine Stava, mother of flood-victim Mrs. Ray Divis.

Mrs. Stava, a Lincoln resident, is now caring for Mrs. Divis' two daughters.

Party, A Surprise Housewarming

There was considerable festivity at 1840 Memorial Dr., on Monday evening. The members of the Egyptian Garden Society had a surprise housewarming for Dr. and Mrs. Albin T. Anderson who are settled in their brand new home.

One might say that Dr. and Mrs. Albin T. Anderson have had a busy weekend. It all began on Saturday evening when the Spanish Garden Society had a housewarming for Dr. and Mrs. Anderson — And last evening the members of the Egyptian Garden Society rang the Anderson doorbell promptly at 7 o'clock—and surprised them with another housewarming — this time a "surprise."

Lest you be of the opinion that Dr. and Mrs. Anderson are terrifically interested in gardens, Spanish and Egyptian, we hasten to tell you that the Spanish and Egyptian Garden Societies are not so much involved in tubers and trellises as they are cooking.

Included on the Egyptian Garden Society roster are, in addition to Dr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Blumer, Dr. and Mrs. Lee Stover, Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Cherry, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. David Dow, Mr. and Mrs. Houghton Furr, Mr. and Mrs. William Marting, Capt. and Mrs. David Hollenbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duxbury and Mr. and Mrs. Nate Holman.

In the Spanish Garden group are some duplications — Dr. and Mrs. Cherry, Dr. and Mrs. Stover and Mr. and Mrs. David Dow—But also members of the Spanish Garden Socitey are Dr. and Mrs. James C. Olson, Mr. and James C. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shaw, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Nicoll.

Speaking of names — we have some new ones on the guest list this morning — Miss Diana Greve of San Mateo, Calif., for instance, who is the house guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hans.

Complimenting Miss Greve on the day of her arrival June 16, was Mrs. Max Denney who entertained at a coffee at her home.

Miss Greve leaves this week to return to her home.

The past weekend brought Mr. and Mrs. George Peterman (Marilyn Mardis) and their children, Gary and Lynn, from Nashville, Tenn., for a brief stay in Lincoln as the guests of Mrs. Peterman's mother, Mrs. H. C. Mardis.

On Sunday evening the visitors were honored by by Mrs. Peterman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Beachly, who were host and hostess at a family dinner at the Lincoln Country Club.

And next Thursday evening Mr. Mardis will be a dinner hostess in courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Peterman and their family, when she entertains at Congress Inn.

Attended Workshop

In Lincoln last week end to attend the annual School of Instruction of the Nebraska Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club were officers and chairman of the state organization.

Among those attending the all-day meeting on Saturday at the Cornhusker were (seated, from the left) Mrs. Evelyn Rankin, North Platte, counselor; Miss Moreane Alldritt, Hastings, third vice president; Mrs. Fran Johnson, Grand Island, second vice president; Miss Hanna Schmidt, Fremont, first vice president; and Miss Lucile Stutheit, Scottsbluff, president.

In back are (left to right) Miss Sarah Jane Cunningham, McCook, parliamentarian; Mrs. Alvena Reeser, Scottsbluff, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Margaret Hart, Omaha, recording secretary; and Miss Esther Shubert, Lincoln, treasurer.

Chapel Wedding

In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, the marriage of Miss Nancy Ann Bernard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Bernard of Ralston, to William Gregg Woodhams, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. McBee of Holyoke, Colo., was solemnized on Saturday morning, June 22. The lines of the 10 o'clock service were read by the Rev. Stanley Bouchard at Evans Chapel on the Denver University campus.

The matron of honor and bride's only attendant was Mrs. C. Steven Bonney of Denver, who wore a sheath of aqua silk shantung.

Serving Mr. Woodhams as best man was Dan Clark of Holyoke.

For her wedding, the bride chose a slim gown of white silk organza over peau de soie fashioned in the daytime mode. Silk embroidery bordered the squared neckline and brief sleeves of the bodice, and was repeated at the hem of the sheath skirt. A circlet of organza and silk trimmed with pearls held her shoulder veil of illusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodhams will live in Greeley, Colo., where both are studying for their Masters degrees at Colorado State College. A graduate of Colorado Woman's College in Denver, and the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Delta Tau Kappa honorary. Mr. Woodhams, who is a graduate of Denver University, and his bride will teach in the Estes Park high School next year.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

Suburbia's summer fun may have been a bit hampered during the weekend, but in spite of the weather suburbia's moral is bright and cheerful since there is wide variety of upcoming entertainment — Some of it will hold top priority over the weather.

These indeed are the days that neighborhood pinics and barbecues reign supreme in Suburbia, and since we mentioned picnics we might add that there will be a neighborhood gathering on June 30 at 12:30 p.m., at Bethany Park for the residents of Sunnyside Acres.

The busy planning committee which includes Mrs. Glen Martin, Mrs. Melvin Sandeau, Mrs. Robert Jansky, Mrs. Don Maul, Mrs. Don Brennan, Mrs. Ron Hile, and Mrs. Allan Ruhge is hoping for clear skies but in case of a sudden deluge the picnic will be held the following Sunday, July 7.

Other news in Sunnyside Acres this week concerns Miss Lisa Lally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lally, who has just returned from a week of fishing, boating and swimming in Minnesota.

Lisa was accompanied by her uncle and aunt and two cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Bell and Gary and Mike to Ivanhoe Lodge, Leach Lake in Walker, Minn.

HOLLYWOOD HEIGHTS

Two visitors in Hollywood Heights recently were Diann and Stephanie Coker of Independence, Mo., who were house guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Allin, and Leslie, David and Mark.

Diann and Stephanie arrived June 19 and after several days visit, returned to Independence with their father, Mr. H. E. Coker.

Another busy household in Hollywood Heights last week was that of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Killon who entertained their son and daughter-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Killion Jr., Paul III, Phil, Pamela, Patti and Polly of Big Springs.

The visitors arrived a week ago Friday and on Tuesday the group motored to Gretna where they enjoyed a picnic dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Killion and Mark and Linda.

Mr. and Mrs. Killion and their family motored back to Big Springs last Wednesday.

Hollywood Heights residents are busy bidding farewell to several of their neighbors who will be leaving soon for new homes in Lincoln and new towns.

In farewell courtesy to Mrs. Fred Hansel, Mrs. John Fink and Mrs. Jerry McGinnis, Mrs. Paul Killion was hostess to several neighborhood friends at an afternoon coffee held at her home last Friday.

Mrs. Hansel already has left Hollywood Heights, as of last weekend, for her new home in Lincoln and Mrs. Fink will be leaving the first of August for her new home in Beatrice. Mrs. McGinnis will also be departing the neighborhood in August for a new home in Lincoln.

Candlelight Service

Miss Germaine Kay Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Wright, became the bride of Walter William Switzer, son of Mrs. Clarence Switzer, and the late Mr. Switzer, at a candlelight service solemnized on Saturday evening, June 22. The 7:30 o'clock ceremony was read by the Rev. Albert Gray at the Havelock Methodist Church, and the wedding music was played by Miss Mildred Ohslund, organist. Miss Ohslund also accompanied Mrs. Ralph Knepper of Holdrege, the vocal soloist.

The maid of honor was Miss Luci Switzer of Chicago, sister of the bridegroom. Frocked in silk organza in the coral tone, Miss Switzer carried a cascade of white carnations tipped in coral.

Roger Roe of Kearney served as best man, and seating the guests were J. Gregg Wright, brother of the bride, and James Dunlevey.

Textured taffeta in the candlelight tone was chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. The portrait neckline of the long-sleeved basque was edged with tiny pearls, and the skirt was caught into the fullness of unpressed pleats and extended into a chapel train. A petal cap of Alencon lace and pearls held her illusion veil, and ivory-toned roses and valley-lilies fashioned her bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Switzer, both members of the Lincoln Star editorial staff, will reside at 6525 Colfax. A member of Sigma Kappa sorority, Gamma Alpha Chi and Phi Delta Gamma, the bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska from which she received her Masters degree earlier this month. Also a graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mr. Switzer is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and Sigma Delta Chi.

August Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dean this morning are announcing the betrothal of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Lt. Eric C. Theiner, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Theiner of New York City.

The wedding will take place Aug. 17, at Lackland Air Force Base chapel, Texas

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, the bride-elect is employed in social work at San Antonio, Tex.

Lt. Theiner, who is stationed at Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital at Lackland Base, is a graduate of Manhattan College, New York, where he is a member of Sigma Beta Kappa fraternity, and received his Master's degree in psychology at Syracuse University.

THE WOMEN GO FOR "OLIVER"

A short summer coif can be flattering for the more mature woman as well as flattering and practical for the active younger swimming and beaching set. The "Oliver" coif, the imitation of a little English boy's deep banged haircut, has been adopted by many stylists. Among the most famous is the version designed here by Anthos. The hair is tapered moderately at the back. However, it has none of the shape of the Shingle". By the end of the summer the hair will be long enough from the crown and at the nape to dress into more elaborate winter hair fashions

TOP: Short divide made in hair above left temple. Four large pincurls sweep across forehead wound toward right ear Just behind forehead line two rollers angled wound forward. Center crown large rollers wound toward forehead. To right of these rollers two rollers wound toward back of head. On left side one roller wound toward forehead, the other toward left ear.

LEFT SIDE: Highest crown roller jumbo sized wound toward forehead. Slight wave movement combed in at temple. Hair wound on small roller. Just above ear hair swept back into loose pincurls directed downward toward face. Small rollers wound downwards fill in side.

RIGHT SIDE: Three small rollers wound downward and back fill in side. Hair swept away and upwards from the temple on this side in three large pincurls. Two rows of large pincurls fill in nape to enmesh at center back.

BACK: Three medium rollers wound downward fill in the center back. Medium and small rollers angled to prevent splits are directed toward center nape of neck.

COMBOUT: Larger rollers with a greater circumference at the top of the head eliminate the necessity for teasing the hair in order to have a lifted crown. Back comb with a comb moderately to create a foundation only. Following the setting line, create layers of hair which sweep across the forehead and crown in tiers. Hair is brushed smoothly back from the temples and softly across the top of the ear creating a quiet silhouette on the sides.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: Shame on you for suggesting that spaghetti be eaten by twisting the forked up spaghetti into the hollow of a large spoon. That's like condoning drinking coffee out of a saucer after fanning it with your hat!

SPAGHETTI AFICIONADO

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Where did you get the idea that one uses a fork AND A SPOON for spaghetti? According to Emily Post it is not considered etiquette either here or in Italy. Please correct yourself in your column before millions of Dear Abby fans start eating their spaghetti like Italian peasants.

VELIA

DEAR VELIA: All right, so I was taught to eat spaghetti like an Italian peasant. But it's easier to eat that way and, in my book, common sense and convenience transcend "etiquette," so let us not have any Emily Postmortems.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR READERS: I finally became so exercised over the spaghetti-eating controversy that I sent the following cable to a well-bred Italian friend in Florence, Italy: "In Italy, is it considered proper etiquette to eat spaghetti with a fork and large spoon?

ABBITA VAN BURENIO"

By return cable, this reply was received:

"Only the middle-class southern Italian eats spaghetti with a fork and large spoon. Aforementioned technique strictly excluded by good society throughout the whole of Italy.

GIORGIO GIANESE"

DEAR ABBY: I followed through on your memo, telephoned a number of the leading Italian restaurants in the Los Angeles area, and asked, "How do your customers eat spaghetti?" The replies:

It Seams To Me

The Right Way To Do It

Patricia Scott

A slashed neck opening can be very weak, so bind it to insure strength as well as protection from splitting. Remember that markings should be on the wrong side of the garment (described below) so that the bias piece for binding will be placed on exactly the right spot. Be sure not to slash before you start.

1. Mark length of slash exactly where slash should be. Mark two parellel lines ¼ inch on either side as in Figure A. Cut a true bias piece 1½ inches wide and ½ to one-inch longer than actual slash.

2. Baste the strip to the right side of the garment along the slash marking (Figure B). With wrong side of the garment up, machine stitch along the outside markings, adding stitching across bottom end as in Figure C.

3. Slash along center slash marking through garment and bias strip to within ¼ inch of slash end. From end of cut slash, cut to each corner as shown in Figure D.

4. From the right side of the garment, fold the bias strip over the seam allowance to the wrong side of the garment and baste to garment keeping width of each even as in Figure E.

5. Press binding on wrong side along the neck edge and seamline. Trim binding to ⅛ inch and baste. Using slant stitches, hem folded edges to the garment and press lightly. Don't press from the right side because you will flatten the binding.

6. Remove the basting and press lightly so that the binding edges are not flattened.

7. To finish the end, have right side of garment up. Fold the garment back so you see a little triangular tab at the end of the slash. Stitch across this triangle on the original stitching line, as shown in Figure F. This finished end is similar to the way you finish the ends of bound buttonholes

You must make staylines before the slash is made. The center line is a guide for the slash. The two parallel lines on either side of it and the line across the bottom end will keep the slash from stretching, keep it from fraying, and can be used as guide lines for stitching on the bias strip and the triangular tab.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Patricia Scott has prepared a booklet, HOW TO ALTER YOUR DRESS PATTERNS, which gives complete instructions for altering so that finished garments will fit perfectly. For your copy of this guide to correct fitting, write to Patricia Scott in care of Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1NT	Pass	3NT

Opening lead—five of spades.

Let's say you're declarer with the South hand at three no-trump. West leads a spade and you win the eight with the queen.

The hand looks like a breeze, since you figure to make two spades, four diamonds (after forcing out the ace), and four clubs for a total of ten tricks.

So, at trick two, you lead the queen of diamonds which East wins with the ace. Back comes a spade. You win it, cash your clubs, and then play the jack of diamonds—West showing out.

This is a disappointment, since you had counted on four diamond tricks and now have only two, and, what's more, you had expected to make a total of ten tricks and now have only eight.

So you abandon diamonds and play a heart towards the queen, hoping that it wins—which would give you nine tricks — but, unfortunately, West rushes up with the ace, cashes his spades, and you are down one.

If you wanted to, you could charge the hand up to bad luck and forget about it, but if you studied the matter very carefully, you'd realize there was a better way of playing the hand that would have made the contract.

It's all a matter of taking the right outlook at the beginning of the hand. Obviously, if the diamonds are divided 3-2, the play presents no problem. So what you do is assume the diamonds are divided 4-1, perhaps 5-0, and take whatever steps are possible to overcome that distribution if it exists.

At trick two you play a club to the queen and return a diamond towards the jack. (If East goes up with the ace, your worries are over.) Then you play the nine of clubs to the ten and return a diamond to the queen.

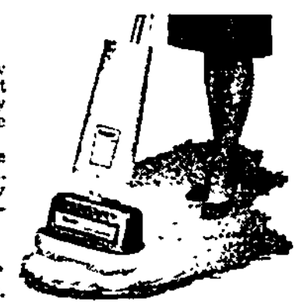

Having gotten both diamonds past East, you are now up to eight sure tricks. You abandon further diamond plays when West shows out on the second diamond lead. You simply lead a heart at this point and thus assure the contract.

Cassius To 'Wait For Sonny Liston'

. . . NU STUDENT CHATS WITH CLAY IN LONDON

Editor's Note: The following story was written by Vicki Elliott, a junior from Beatrice in the University of Nebraska School of Journalism. She is traveling in Europe this summer and obtained the interview with Clay only a few hours before his fight with Henry Cooper in London.

By VICKI ELLIOTT
NU School of Journalism

London, England—"I'm just going to sit back and wait for (Sonny) Liston," Cassius Clay said only a few hours before his knockout victory over Henry Cooper here last week.

"I don't have to fight anyone," said the Louisville Lip who has created more interest in boxing than anyone since Joe Louis. "But I want Liston within the next 6 months," he pleads.

"Liston might be great, but Cassius will get him in 8," the talkative Clay predicts poetically in thinking ahead to what he hopes will be his next ring encounter.

Clay, who has made a practice of predicting the round in which his opponent will be knocked out has been right in 13 of the 14 fights since he became a poetic prognosticator. His lone miss came in his last fight before the Cooper bout when he won a decision over Doug Jones.

Cassius readily admits his boastful habits and showy dress are a part of his plan to boost the gate. And no one can dispute the success he has had, with the Cooper fight here being a sellout of 55,000 seats.

"It gets the ladies interested in boxing, too, Clay adds. "Elizabeth Taylor bought two rows of ringside seats for my fight with Cooper," the American fighter explains.

Cassius knows that many of the fans who come to his fights come to see him lose, but the poetic pugilist says this doesn't cause him any loss of sleep.

"My main concern is that they pay their way in, not whether they root for me or against me," he says.

Cassius' poetic utterings nearly always include insults of the opposing fighter, but this also is a weapon, Clay admits.

When asked if he isn't afraid his insults will make the opponent angry and increase his desire to win, Cassius replied:

"Yes, he gets mad. I want him mad. A really mad fighter will not concentrate and will be much easier to knock out."

Clay points out that his predictions are not merely guesses.

"I base them on the other fighter's past performances, who has knocked him out, who he has knocked out and his weight and measurements," Cassius says.

Jean Hyland Shrugs Off Wind, Lightning For 77

. . . LINCOLNITE LEADS STATE WOMEN QUALIFIERS

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Beatrice — Neither rains, which left water standing on the course, lightning nor high winds stopped Nebraska's gal golfers as 86 teed off Monday in the qualifying round of the Nebraska State Women's Amateur Golf Tournament over the Country Club course here.

Lincoln's Jean Hyland played as if conditions were perfect for golf as she came through with a one-under-par 77 over the 18 holes to lead all qualifiers by a comfortable margin.

Mrs. Hyland, the defending champion, served notice that she was dead serious about going after her 3rd straight crown and her 4th championship in all.

Three inches of rain Sunday night left water standing at various spots on the always-tough course here and play was interrupted for about an hour midway through because of lightning.

High winds plagued the gal golfers throughout the day, but Mrs. Hyland battled it all and came up with, according to club pro Bob Legenza, a course record for women with the gals' tees set where they are for the tourney.

Mrs. Hyland's one-under-par total was 9 strokes better than the second place scores of 86 turned in by two other Lincoln golfers—Dorothy Schwartzkopf and Lou Vermaas.

Mrs. Schwartzkopf, also a former champion, has lost in the final match to Mrs. Hyland the past two years.

Mrs. Hyland's eye-popping round, coming on a course where some of the state's top men have had trouble breaking par, raised eyebrows at all points on the course Monday.

It included a birdie 4 on the 404-yard No. 9 hole, rated by Legenza as one of the toughest holes on the course for a woman to par.

The defending state champion played the front 9 in one-under-par 38 and toured the back 9 in even par 39 for her 77. Her round included birdies on Nos. 3, 9, 10, 13, and 16. She took bogies on Nos. 1, 11, 15 and 17.

Mrs. Hyland will begin defense of her title today in match play against Joan Martig of Omaha who fired a 93 to qualify among the top 16 in the championship flight.

The field was divided into 5 flights, plus a junior flight after Monday's qualifying round. The remainder of the tourney will be match play of 18 holes except for the championship flight which will be 36 holes in the final match Friday.

Christy Schwartzkopf of Lincoln, defending state junior champion, was only 3rd in qualifying with a 102. Bea Colway of Omaha turned in a 100 to lead the juniors and Cheri Schafersman of Omaha was just one stroke back.

The women will begin teeing off at 7 a.m. this morning in the first round of match play that will continue through Friday.

GIANTS GAIN LEAD

Cards Clipped By 4-3

. . . WILD FIRST

St. Louis (AP)—The San Francisco Giants, collecting all their runs in a wild first inning, leaped over St. Louis into the National League lead by one-half game with a 4-3 victory over the Cardinals Monday night.

Lou Burdette, making his second start in a St. Louis uniform, worked 7 innings and was the loser. He is 7-6.

Harvey Kuenn started the Giant's weird 4-run first inning with a triple, but was cut down when Julian Javier threw home on Chuck Hiller's grounder.

Willie Mays then singled off Burdette's glove and when Bill White missed Javier's throw, Hiller went to 3rd and Mays reached second. After Willie McCovey drew an intentional walk, Burdette hit Orlando Cepeda with a two-strike, no-ball pitch, forcing in Hiller.

Mays scored on Ed Bailey's short sacrifice fly to George Altman and when Burdette, backing up the throw home, threw wild past 3rd base, McCovey scored and Cepeda advanced to 3rd. Jim Davenport's single scored Cepeda.

Minor Leagues President George M. Trautman Dies

Columbus, Ohio (AP)—Minor leagues President George M. Trautman, who spent only one day as a professional baseball player but 30 years as an administrator, died Monday at 73.

Trautman was known to have been ill for some time with a heart ailment. However, it was made known Monday that Trautman also was afflicted with cancer, which was the primary cause of death.

GEORGE M. TRAUTMAN

Phil Piton, who became his chief assistant when Trautman took over as president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues the minors in 1947, said the rules call for the vice president to succeed automatically. Frank Shaughnessy of Montreal, retired International League president, is vice president of the minors.

Piton also has been mentioned as a possible successor. The regular election meeting had been set for December in San Diego, and Piton said he sees no change in that arrangement now.

The possibility of merging the minor league office with the majors under commissioner Ford Frick has been suggested. Some members of the majors have supplied funds to the minors in various ways, claiming the big leagues ought to have more direct control.

Golf At Night Coming?

The latest in golf may be night-time play and we aren't speaking of the miniature variety.

One of the many golf magazines now on the newsstands reports that the major electrical companies claim it is economically feasible to light 6,000-yard-plus courses.

Two of the leaders in the massive-light industry estimate that light installation for regulation 18-hole courses would cost approximately $70,000 including labor and materials. One of the major light companies that is pushing the project estimates that the initial costs would be made up in 4 years and that after that time the course will have an annual $15,000 to $20,000 profit.

May Solve Over-Population

This may be a solution to over-populated courses and undoubtedly would also add to the popularity of the game.

It would provide opportunities for more people to play and would give many of the country's golfers a chance to get on the courses more than just on weekends. Many golf enthusiasts, because of work schedules are limited to weekend activities on the golf course.

And a night on the golf course would certainly be more appealing that watching summer reruns on the magic box.

But, There Are Problems

But, in addition to the advantages, one can think of a number of problems that could arise because of night-time golf.

And one of the biggest problems would be installing enough lights in the out-of-the-way places that duffers—which many of us are—manage to find ourselves in at various times during any round of 18 holes.

Also, as if trees weren't enough trouble on a golf course, now they want to put light poles out there.

What about the disgruntled housewives who now must battle against weekend golf to get the old man to mow the lawn. Now she'll also have to fight to keep him off the golf course at night.

Or it could be that Dad will be left doing the dishes at night while Mother is out playing golf.

This newest idea may lead to all kinds of problems both for the golfer and the non-golfer.

Ralston, 4 Other Americans Win 1st Wimbledon Matches

Wimbledon, England (AP) — Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., led 5 Americans through the first round of the Wimbledon tennis tournament Monday, while favored Roy Emerson of Australia crushed William Lenoir of Tucson, Ariz.

Five other Americans also lost on a day marred by a cold wind and rain that frequently halted play and cut the opening program short.

Chuck McKinley of St. Ann., Mo., the No. 1 U.S. player and No. 4 seed, did not play. His match with Cliff Drysdale of South Africa was put off until Tuesday because of darkness.

Ralston Sails

Ralston, who won the NCAA title last week and the indoor crown in February but is unseeded here, sailed past Laci Legenstein of Austria 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, in his first round encounter.

He flashed some brilliant tennis but didn't keep his mind on his work and let Legenstein save 6 match points before he finally eliminated the Austrian.

Emerson, seeking a tennis grand slam to match the one scored by Rod Laver last year, toyed with Lenoir, ranked No. 13 in the U.S. Emerson allowed the American player only 7 points in the opening set and won 6-0, 6-4, 6-3.

The Australian is the No. 1 seed and has already won the Australian and French titles. Laver is now a pro. The women's singles champion, Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego, Calif., also is not defending.

Upset

Monday's big upset came when unseeded Wilhelm Bungert of Germany ousted burly, hard-hitting Mike Sangster of Britain 6-3, 7-5, 6-3. Sangster was seeded No. 8. Sangster could not get his big serve under control in the high wind.

This is the way the other Americans fared in opening round matches in the 77th Wimbledon championship:

Herbie Flam, Palm Springs, Calif., defeated Geoff Knox, Australia, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3; Jack Frost, Monterey, Calif., defeated Thomas Koch, Brazil, 7-5, 9-7, 13-11; Ed Rubinoff, Miami Beach, Fla., defeated Daniel Contet, France, 8-6, 6-1, 6-3; William Hoogs, Berkeley, Calif., defeated Jose Arilla, Spain, 6-10, 6-0, 6-0, 6-4.

Chisox Top Yanks, 5-2

. . . WITHIN 1 OF LEAD

Chicago (AP)—Camilo Carreon's 3-run double in the 4th inning carried the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 victory over the first-place New York Yankees Monday night and pulled them to within a game of the American League leaders.

The triumph, before 42,748, largest Chicago crowd of the season, was the 3rd for the Sox over the Yankees without defeat.

Roger Maris gave rookie southpaw Al Downing a 1-0 lead with his 15th home run in the second inning but rookie Pete Ward tied it in the bottom of the second with his 9th home run that extended Ward's hitting streak to 18 games, longest in the majors this season.

Kansas City (AP)—Bob Del Greco's two-run homer in the 3rd inning and a two-run triple by Jerry Lumpe in the 4th carried the Kansas City Athletics to a come-from behind 6-3 victory Monday night over the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the second against Ed Rakow. Bill Bruton homered for the first run and Jake Wood singled in two.

Del Greco homered against Don Mossi with Rakow aboard in the 3rd. Norm Siebern and Gino Cimoli singled, opening the A's 4th, and Lumpe tripled to deep center for a 4-3 lead.

The A's scored their final runs in the 8th when Ken Harrelson, rookie first baseman, hit a two-run homer off Hank Aguirre.

Shrine Squads Slate Separate Hospital Trips

Both Nebraska Shrine Bowl All-Star football teams will make separate trips to the Twin Cities Hospital for Crippled Children in Minneapolis, Bob Russell, president of the Shrine Bowl, announced Monday.

Last year the two 33-man squads traveled together, but this year they will make separate trips with the help of Frontier Airlines, Russell said.

The South team will fly up on Friday, Aug. 9 and the North team the following day. This will mean a break in the training camp routine. Training opens Aug. 5 for the Aug 17 game in Nebraska's Memorial Stadium

Drysdale Stops Reds' Streak At 7

Cincinnati (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers struck for 5 early runs and held on for a 5-4 decision Monday night over Cincinnati, snapping the Reds' winning string at 7 games.

Burley Don Drysdale held Cincinnati without a hit through 5 innings and allowed only two through 7. But he failed to get a man out in the 8th as the Reds broke loose for their 4 runs against the ace right-hander and southpaw reliever Ron Perranoski.

The Dodgers collected all their runs and 6 of their 7 hits in the first 3 innings against Joey Jay, who lost for the 11th time against 3 victories.

Lemaster Shuts Out Colts, 3-0

Milwaukee (AP) — Four-hit pitching by Denny Lemaster and home runs by Lee Maye and Eddie Mathews gave the Milwaukee Braves a 3-0 victory over the floundering Houston Colts Monday night.

The defeat was the Colts' 9th in a row and the shutout was their 5th in their last 6 games.

Lemaster held the Colts to all singles as he balanced his season record at 4-4 and pulled the Braves up to the .500 mark for the first time since May 6. Only two runners reached second base against the young left-hander and none got to 3rd.

Lemaster struck out 6 and trimmed his earned run average to 1.78.

. . . FREGOSI'S HIT DECIDES

Los Angeles (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels, who hadn't scored in 21 innings, rallied for 3 runs in the 8th Monday night and defeated the Washington Senators, 3-2. A single by Jim Fergosi brought in the winning run.

Washington left-hander Claude Osteen was working on a two-hit shutout after 7 innings. But Hank Foiles opened the Angel 8th with his second homer of the season and Lee Thomas followed with a single.

Bob Perry then bunted Thomas to second and pinch hitter Ed Sadowski scored him with a single. Sadowski took second on a single by Albie Pearson and came in with the winning run on Fergosi's single.

Sugar Ray Decisioned

Philadelphia (UPI) —Middleweight contender Joey Giardello of Philadelphia floored 3-year-old Sugar Ray Robinson once and gave him the worst beating of his career Monday night for a unanimous 10-round decision that apparently moved Giardello toward an autumn title fight.

As Robinson came down from the ring in Convention Hall, he refused to answer the big question yelled at him by sports writers: "Will you retire now?"

Sugar Ray, former welterweight champion and record 5-time middleweight champion, was floored for a count of 9 midway in the 4th round by a left hook to the chin. And he apparently was saved from going down again in the 6th round by the bell.

In many of the rounds, Ray had to hold on.

Bill Dailey Quells Oriole Rally, 6-4

. . . ALLISON HAS RBI LEAD

St. Paul-Minneapolis (AP) — Minnesota struck for a 5-0 lead against Milt Pappas in the first two innings, then held off Baltimore behind Bill Dailey's sensational relief pitching for a 6-4 victory over the Orioles Monday.

The Orioles hopped on Jim Kaat for 4 runs in the middle innings, and finally forced him out of the game with a long fly out and a single in the 8th.

Dailey relieved Kaat and blanked the Orioles over the final 1 2-3 innings to gain his 8th save. Dailey now has been credited with saves in 4 of Minnesota's last 6 games.

Dailey got pinch hitter John Powell to tap into a double play to end the 8th, then retired the Orioles in the 9th. He walked one in the 9th, his first unintentional pass in 29 innings, and gave up a bunt single to speedy Joe Gaines.

Dailey had gotten 13 straight relief outs before Gaines' single, spread over four appearances.

Bob Allison took over the American League runs-batted-in lead at 50 by singling home a run in the first.

Kaat became the 22nd of 23 southpaws who have started against Baltimore this season and failed to finish. But he got the win and is 7-6.

Geiger's Blast Helps Bosox Clip Cleveland

Boston (AP) — Gary Geiger smashed a two-out, two-strike home run in the bottom of the 9th inning for Boston's 7-5 victory over Cleveland Monday night with reliever Jerry Walker the victim.

Roman Mejias had drawn a walk just ahead of the blow. Geiger's 7th homer of the year.

Twice the Indians rallied to tie, the second time on Willie Kirkland's two-run homer in the 7th inning as the first man to face reliefer Jack Lamabe.

Cleveland bunched 3 runs off rookie Bob Heffner—making his second major league appearance — in the 6th with singles by Max Alvis and Tito Francona plus Joe Azcue's sacrifice fly doing the damage.

Lu Clinton, who had singled for one of the earlier Boston tallies, snapped a 3-3 deadlock with a two-run homer off Tribe starter Gary Bell in the 6th.

A solo homer by Chuck Schilling and Gary Geiger's wrong-field triple helped Boston.

Top Doctor Must Examine Liston's Knee Before Bout

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Beach Boxing Commission said Monday that unless a top orthopedic surgeon examines heavyweight champion Sonny Liston's injured knee and finds it sound, the champ is "ill and unavailable" for a fight.

Commission chairman Fred Aaronson said he has not received a report from Liston's handlers or from the Las Vegas Boxing Commission on the condition of the knee. Liston is scheduled to fight Floyd Patterson in Las Vegas July 22.

Since Miami Beach and Nevada both are members of the World Boxing Association, their rulings and suspensions are mutually respected. Aaronson said he would write a letter of protest to the Las Vegas commission immediately.

Legal Action Considered By Iowa AAU

Des Moines (UPI) — Iowa Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) officials Monday were considering a suggestion that they take legal action to obtain permission to use state or local tax-supported facilities for indoor and outdoor track championships.

The proposal was made by Stephen M. Archer, New York, secretary of the National AAU, at a dinner meeting with Iowans here Sunday night.

Iowa AAU officials told Archer they had been unable to obtain facilities for track and field meets and the indoor and outdoor contests had been sponsored by the Iowa section of the newly formed United States Track and Field Federation.

"If we get more evidence that colleges are deliberately withholding facilities, we may resort to courts on a local level," Archer said.

He said the National Collegiate Athletic Association had agreed to lift the ban on use of its facilities and coaches for AAU meets "and this was being lived up to at first."

DOCTORS KNOW:

Merely "shrinking" hemorrhoids is not enough!

Advanced new formula gives more complete, longer-lasting relief.... works 5 ways!

If you suffer from hemorrhoids, you have probably discovered that products which promise to "shrink" hemorrhoids do not always give prolonged relief. For as doctors will tell you, merely "shrinking" may not be enough to relieve discomfort.

That's why Mentholatum Laboratories set out to develop a more complete home treatment for hemorrhoids. The result is new M.P.O.—a remarkable medication which works five ways to give faster, longer-lasting relief. Here's how:

1. Starts to ease pain faster. M.P.O.'s advanced formula contains more pain-relieving ingredients, including Benzocaine, than the preparation you may now be using.

2. Shrinks hemorrhoids sooner. Quickly releases the proven vasoconstrictor, Ephedrine Sulfate, to reduce swollen tissues.

3. Speeds relief of embarrassing itch. M.P.O.'s medication is homogenized for faster absorption, faster relief.

4. Gives longer-lasting relief. An exclusive temperature-stable base enables M.P.O. to concentrate its soothing medication against inflamed tissue, thus assuring more prolonged comfort.

5. Fights danger of infection. M.P.O.'s formula includes the proven germ killer Hexachlorophene to combat bacteria.

M.P.O. is available at all drug counters in stainless ointment or suppository form. Satisfaction guaranteed, or money back.

Measure Giving Osteopaths Medical Privileges Rebuffed

Nebraska's Legislature Monday rebuffed once again the efforts of osteopaths to attain medical and surgical privileges in the state.

The osteopathic bill, LB665, became at the sixth measure of the current session to fail of passage after reaching final reading stage.

An 18-18 vote was accorded the measure. Twenty-two affirmative votes were needed for approval.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, introducer of LB665, indicated he would move for reconsideration later. He changed his vote from "aye" to "naye" for reconsideration purposes.

LB665 had won 22-10 endorsement on general file but apparently lost some support in the interim. Opposition to the measure had come from some medical doctors.

Had the bill been approved, Nebraska would have become the 40th state to permit osteopaths to take medical examinations.

Under LB665, graduates of approved colleges of osteopathy would have become eligible to take the examinations given by the State Board of Examiners in Medicine and Surgery for licensing as medical doctors in the state.

Procedure was provided for inspections of schools or colleges of osteopathy for approval purposes.

The inspections were to be performed by a team appointed by the Board of Examiners in Medicine and Surgery.

The bill also called for an osteopath to be added to the 5-member board of examiners.

Senators voting for approval of LB665 included Bahensky, Brandt, Bridenbaugh, Burbach, Damrow, Erlewine, Forrester, Foster, Gerdes, Gottschalk, Hasebroock, Kremer, Nelson, Reeves, Ruhnke, Stalder, Stromer and Syas.

Voting against LB665 were Adamson, Bowen, Carpenter, Craft, Kjar, Klaver, Lysinger, Mahoney, Marvel, Moulton, Orme, R. Rasmussen, Russillo, Skarda, Stryker, Thompson, Warner, Wylie.

Absent or not voting were Claussen, Danner, Fleming, Gerhart, McGinley, Payne, E. Rasmussen.

Codification Of School Laws Proposed

A codification of Nebraska school laws was proposed in the State Legislature Monday by Sens. Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper, Jerome Warner of Waverly and Elvin Adamson of Nenzel.

The resolution, No. 65, urged the appropriation of $5,000 to the Legislative Council "for the necessary legal and other assistance necessary to complete this project."

The resolution was referred to the Legislative Council Executive Committee for recommendation.

There has been no codification of school laws since 1949, the resolution noted.

A number of statutes are passed at each legislative session pertaining to education, schools and school districts, and these laws are scattered through the lawbooks, the resolution said.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Like all Europe, Madrid is packed to the rafters. The other night I met a Filipino millionaire who is living in a very second-class hotel.

He said: "I have a very good view of the light well. And directly across, the room is occupied by an attractive lady who doesn't pull the shades very carefully. So it could be worse."

Rooms at the stylish Ritz, the elegant Palace or the popular Castellana Hilton are almost impossible to get. It's something like being in town during the World Series. Or a Republican convention.

☆ ☆ ☆

Apartments and houses are not hard to come by if you will take them by the year.

A very good furnished apartment goes for about $125. For $200 you can get a palace. But Madrid is icy in the winter. And the hot summer months of July and August are impossible.

The entire Government closes shop. Many offices close. Stores go on morning hours only and shut up for the rest of the day.

With a great deal of pressure from the airline TWA—it is THE important foreign line in Madrid)—I got the first vacancy at the Waldorf Hotel.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Waldorf is not exactly like the New York Waldorf. It is a residential hotel with large apartments.

An apartment here with kitchen, living room, bedroom and balcony terrace is $8.50 per day. Madrilenos consider this a fairly high price. Even though this gives maid service and an acceptable breakfast is sent up for 50 cents.

For real acceptance, however, you should have your own servants.

You should have a chauffeur ($25 a month); a cook ($20 a month); and a general maid ($15 a month).

Fortunately I have no car. So I don't need the chauffeur.

I decided against a cook. But had to have the maid. There isn't much for her to do except a little baby-sitting. She adds class to the scatter. A man who has Waldorf on his stationery can't be too careful about status.

☆ ☆ ☆

One pleasant thing about this most pleasant city: There is a constant stream of messenger boys to do nearly everything.

These boys are dressed in uniform—a bell boy uniform for that is what they are. Therefore, they are called "botones." "Buttons."

Hotels have botones of the house and botones of the street.

If you want to send a message a mile away, you ask for a botones of the street.

The botones works on tips. And the highest tip seems to be 5 pesetas which is about 8 cents. This is for a long haul. For minor things, something like 2 cents is correct.

☆

Almost all Spaniards complain about rising prices. Prices have gone up. But an average taxi ride—the length of the tree-shaded, lovely Castellana and up the fine shopping Gran Via goes about 20 cents with the tip.

Dinner for 4 in the finest restaurants—(cocktails, wine and brandy included)—runs $25. An excellent dinner for two, all included, can be had for $5. And you could certainly shop around and do it for $2.

☆ ☆ ☆

Spain's general economy has been boosted by $1.6 million in U.S. loans and rentals on air bases. (It costs $50 million a year to maintain an enormous radar installation.)

However, this has been mainly pump priming. The basic rise has been in increased factories, exports and a booming tourist trade.

All this is in process of rapid change. Hotel rates will be de-controlled. Labor is getting a larger share of the income. The Spaniard is dressing better and eating better. And the day of the $25 maid and the 8-cent botones will soon be over.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 5 to 271.5 with industrials unchanged, rails up 1.5 and utilities off .1

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials declined 2.36 to 718.42

Volume diminished to 3.72 million shares from 5.19 million Friday.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Volume dropped to 1.27 million shares from 1.4 million Friday. Among gainers were Electronic Specialty, Harderman, Mead Johnson, Occidental Petroleum and Technicolor. Losers included Draper, Edo, Giannini, Kawecki Chemical, Paddington and Syntex.

Soybeans; Feed Grains Maintain Steady Demand

Chicago (AP)—The feed grain and soybean futures maintained a steady speculative demand throughout the session Monday and finished with the prices strong on the Board of Trade. Wheat and rye were weak.

Advances in soybeans ranged to more than three cents a bushel, in corn to more than a cent and in oats to a major fraction. Trade volume probably reached the 85 million bushels handled on Friday.

Weakness in wheat was credited to broadening of winter harvest and a consequent expansion of hedge selling in the pit. Brokers said the five-day forecast indicated favorable weather for continuation of harvest which was interrupted last week by moisture

Corn and soybeans started off in a firm to strong range and maintained it with only minor easiness from time to time. The strength was credited to an active speculative demand to reinstate long positions

At the close, wheat was unchanged to 1⅛ cents a bushel lower, July $1 86-86⅛, corn ⅞-1⅛ higher, July $1 27¼-⅛, oats ⅛-⅛ higher, July 66⅞-67 cents, rye ⅛-⅛ lower, July $1 26⅝; soybeans 1½-3½ higher, July $2 64⅞-⅝.

Plans were reported by Hugo Cervantes Del Rio, director-general of the government's toll highway and bridge agency.

Twelve pages of wholesome colored comics, feature stories with plenty of pictures and the big entertainment section are a few reasons why nearly everyone reads the "Sunday Journal and Star."

Sale every Wednesday, 11am 200 Block West O, then south over viaduct, then west.
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26

Had good run of livestock last week and clearance was good on all classes of hogs and cattle. Good butcher hogs sold at $17.25 to $17.50 with a Top of $17.55. Light Sows at $15.30; and thin wet Sows at $12 to $13.50. Feeder Pigs sold from $7.50 to $12.50 per head. For light Pigs and some good 120 lb pigs cashed at $17.20 per hundred weight.

Most classes of Feeder Cattle were about steady with a week ago; while Slaughter cows were some lower. 450 to 550 lb steers and heifers sold from $23 to $25.50; some good lightweights up to $27.50. Medium kinds at $20 to $23; and plainer cattle from $17 to $18.50. Will have our usual good run of Livestock this week consisting of Feeder cattle, cows, calves and bulls, and all classes of hogs.

Rain over the past weekend will make the grass prospects much better and should increase demand for feeder and stock cattle.

Recommend No Cigaret Stamp Fee Cut

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Revenue Committee Monday voted 6-1 not to recommend a percentage decrease in funds paid to cigaret wholesalers for affixing tax stamps to cigaret packages.

Instead, the legislative unit decided to amend LB805 so as to provide permissive authority for the State Department of Agriculture to do the stamping itself.

The bill was then advanced to the floor on a 7-0 count.

Also advanced was LB807, the second of two accounting study bills, this one proposing a series of constitutional amendments which would allow the Legislature to establish a central system for the issuance of warrants.

Requirement May Go

As amended, the bill also proposes to remove the present provision requiring the governor to submit a budget to the Legislature. The proposal states that the governor "may" submit a budget within 30 days after a Legislature convenes.

LB807 was sponsored by the Budget Committee and attracted no opposition at the public hearing.

A number of cigaret wholesalers voiced opposition to LB805, which would have reduced the wholesaler's reimbursement for affixing tax stamps from 5% to 3½% of the total revenue.

With the recent two-cent per package increase in cigaret taxes, LB805 would have provided wholesalers with some $34,000 more "for doing the same job" as they now receive, Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton said. At 5%, they would take in an additional $174,000, he said.

'Loss Already'

But wholesalers argued that they are already taking a loss on the tax stamp procedure. Without 5%, they would prefer that the state do the job, the committee was told.

Some 89% of the 60 cigaret wholesalers in Nebraska are losing money on the 5% rate based on a 4-cent tax, wholesalers said. The tax is now 6 cents.

In other action, representatives of Pitney-Bowes, Inc., the company which makes tax stamp machines, testified that their equipment assures "no substantial loss of revenue" from cigaret tax evasion.

More Per Person

State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan, whose department contains the cigaret tax division, said Nebraska collects more cigaret taxes per capita than any surrounding state except Wyoming.

"I feel sure that we are experiencing no loss of revenue because of our system of collection," he said. In addition, he noted that collection costs have been reduced 24% since 1959.

Finigan said he is currently studying costs involved in having the state affix the stamps itself.

The committee also agreed to close its books on any further investigation of price increases in beer, liquor and cigarets which followed on the heels of tax boosts enacted by the 1963 session of the Legislature.

Forgiveness Urged

Tel Aviv, Israel (UPI) — Former Premier David Ben-Gurion urged Israelis to "forget and forgive" Germany's Nazi past and open a new page in relations with the nation once ruled by Adolf Hitler. He said that if President Charles de Gaulle and France "can forgive and forget sufficiently to make a pact with Germany, then Israel can trust the statesman's judgement."

Wilber, Ravenna, Broken Bow Ask Added Highways

Delegations from Wilber, Ravenna and Broken Bow Monday pleaded with the Highway Advisory Commission to make additions to the state highway system.

The commission agreed to consider the requests, but noted funds have been committed for the 1963-65 biennium.

The Ravenna group asked an approximately 10-mile extension of Neb. 10 from where it intersects with Neb. 100 and then into Ravenna.

The Wilber or Highway 41 Association delegation asked for an approximately 5-mile extension of Neb. 41 west of Clay Center.

Backed by 3 state senators, the Broken Bow delegation asked a 9½-mile stretch of Neb. 70 between Westerville and Arcadia be converted to dustless surface and added.

Sens. LeRoy Bahensky of St. Paul, Cecil Craft of North Platte and M. M. Forrester of Anselmo all testified the road was a vital farm-to-market link and the area in need of an all-weather outlet.
